DUCE SEEKS MEDITERRANEAN CONTROL

PRICE OF PEACE IS DEMAND

ROME, Jan. 12.—The Premiers of Great Britain and Italy concluded their formal conversations on the future of Europe late today, and British sources said no new commitment had been made on either side. The appeasement talks for which Prime Minister Chamberlain came to Rome yesterday ended with a 75-minute conference in Premier Mussolini's office. A spokesman for Mr. Chamberlain said the conferences "continued and satisfactorily finished the job begun yesterday, that of a general European survey, and each side concluded by stating its position and understanding that of the other."

GRAY DENIES IS FORCED TO RESIGN POST

Liberal Leader Reported to Be Retiring From Irrigation Project

Report appearing in The Journal Wednesday about E. L. Gray M.L.A., Alberta Liberal leader, stating that the Liberal executive meeting in Calgary Saturday "had agreed emphatically that Mr. Gray should resign his private position with the Eastern irrigation organization" was vigorously denied here by Edmonton members who had been at the executive meeting.

"There was no such sharp alternative discussed at all. The report is quite false in that respect", an executive member declared. "Mr. Gray did say he would shortly make an announcement of his future plans but did not intimate the nature of the announcement."

EXPRESSES SURPRISE

Mr. Gray told The Bulletin that The Journal report and inference "were not correct" and expressed surprise that the report had suggested that the meeting in Calgary had even considered that he "had to choose between continuing as leader of the party or remaining as manager of the irrigation district."

NEW EVIDENCE ON GAS BUYING DUE AT PROBE

Special Inquiry Committee On City Accounts Sits Thursday Night

Continuation of testimony regarding gasoline, stated to have been bought wholesale by H. W. Rattenbury, ex-buyer for the city, and charged to the fire department, is expected to be heard when the third session of the aldermanic inquiry into civic accounts opens tonight.

Last sitting of the special committee of inquiry, held Tuesday, closed with testimony by Robert R. Foster, district manager for McColl-Frontenac Oil Co., Ltd., regarding purchases of gasoline by Mr. Rattenbury.

Evidence to be presented by City Solicitor T. E. Garside who is leading the inquiry, is expected to show the method by which the gasoline was billed to the fire department. James A. Henderson, auditor, stated Tuesday night that this had been done.

Up to the present neither Mr. Rattenbury nor Fire Chief Albert Dutton, at present suspended from service, have been called to the stand but it is expected that tonight or at a later session both will be called.

On Tuesday night evidence was given by Comptroller A. A. Campbell and Mr. Henderson that Mr. Rattenbury was $1,454 in default on city funds and that the fire chief had bought a $19 ice box which was billed to the city as a steel cabinet.

Ald. E. Brown is chairman of the committee of six which is conducting the investigation and hearing evidence under oath.

Investigation of accounts in the stores and works department is hampered by the fact that all invoices dated prior to April, 1936, have been destroyed, it was learned Thursday from A. A. Campbell, city comptroller. Lack of space was a reason given for their destruction to auditors.

Canada Parliament Opens Sessions With Big Agenda For Members' Consideration

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—Parliament buildings were a riot of color today when Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, presided over the traditional brilliant ceremony which launched the legislators upon their serious task of administering the Dominion's affairs. It was the fourth time for Lord Tweedsmuir to officiate as the King's representative at the opening of Canada's parliament.

The ceremony was centred about the red and gold chamber of the senate. Women in evening attire began to assemble at noon, three hours before the ceremonies were scheduled to start, and took possession of the best seats in the senate lobby.

Seats in the chamber itself were reserved for the senators and their wives, the supreme court justices, high dignitaries of church and state, the diplomatic corps and other privileged persons.

Other crowds gathered around the doors of the two upper galleries, clutching the treasured cards which give them admission to vantage points.

SILVER AND GLASS

In the apartments of Hon. W. E. Foster, speaker of the Senate, and Hon. P. F. Casgrain, speaker of the House of Commons, long tables littered with silver and glass in preparations for the receptions to be held by the two presiding officers and their wives following the opening.

Outside, in the brilliant sunshine of a perfect winter day, a battery of artillery swung in to position on the east slope, ready to fire a royal salute greeting the arrival of the vice-regal party from Rideau Hall.

Citizens who had not obtained tickets to the ceremonies inside clustered about the peace tower to watch the arrival of notables.

MEMBERS GATHER

The house of commons members gathered slowly and took their seats, exchanging hearty greetings.

Speech From Throne

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—Further expansion of Canadian defence forces to guard against continued threats to world peace and establishment of a defence purchasing board were forecast in the Speech from the Throne today as major projects for the present session of parliament. The speech, read at the opening ceremonies by Governor-General Lord Tweedsmuir, indicated a busy few months for members of parliament and senators, assembled for the fourth session of the 18th parliament of Canada.

In full, the speech reads as follows:

Honorable Members of The Senate:

Members of The House of Commons:

The announcement that Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have graciously decided to visit Canada in the months of May and June has been received with rejoicing throughout the Dominion. The honor of welcoming their King and Queen, in person, on their own soil, is a privilege which will be shared with enthusiasm and pride by all His Majesty's Canadian subjects. The visit will be the first paid by the reigning sovereign to any of his self-governing dominions. It will be the first time a British King and Queen have been in North America. It is deeply gratifying that Their Majesties' tour will embrace all the provinces of Canada.

WARM DEMONSTRATIONS

AUTOIST MAKES GETAWAY WHILE GARAGE BURNS

VANCOUVER, Jan. 12.—Things happened fast at a Kitsilano garage Wednesday morning.

An unidentified motorist had his car repaired. He hopped in and drove off without paying, knocking over a gas pump as he swerved out of the driveway.

The pump caught fire and threatened to destroy the garage. The motorist made his getaway in the car while attendants battled the blaze.

The fire was confined to the pump.

REPORT SAYS RATTENBURY IS AT VANCOUVER

Rumors that H. W. Rattenbury, dismissed city purchasing agent, whose activities are now the subject of a council probe, had left the city, were circulating around the Civic block Thursday. Officials had no definite information regarding Mr. Rattenbury's whereabouts, but it is believed he has gone to Vancouver.

At his home it was stated that he was not in the city but the informant could not say where he had gone nor for how long he will be absent.

CHILDREN ARE ABANDONED AT POLICE CENTRE

For the second time within six months, city police Thursday found themselves with the problem of three abandoned children, left in the city police station.

At noon Thursday three little girls, all under eight years of age, were found sitting on a bench just inside the front door of the station, where they had been left by a taxi driver instructed by the mother of the three girls to "deliver them to the police station."

LETTER TO POLICE

The oldest of the children had the fare for the cab driver, and an envelope addressed to the police.

In the envelope was a letter from the mother, explaining her reason for leaving the children.

"By the time you read this," she wrote, "I will be on a bus bound for a not too distant place. It hurts me terribly to leave the children, but I have no alternative. If I remain, I will go out of my mind completely, so I am leaving while I still have some semblance of sanity.

"I am not deserting the children. My husband deserted them six years ago when he went away, and I can no longer look after them.

"He is in Yellowknife, N.W.T., and the last time I had any money from him was on October 18, when he sent $75.

GLAD TO RETURN

"I will be glad to return and mother the family if he comes back and establishes a home for us, but until then I will keep in close touch with the welfare of the children and see if my husband will make an effort to do his share.

"I just couldn't go on with it, and I much prefer jail or suicide to the position I have been in."

The woman signed her name to the letter.

The cab driver said the children were picked up at a 97 street address.

DRAYTON IN CHARGE

Police called Frank Drayton, superintendent of city relief and child welfare officer, who took the children to his home for lunch.

"I'll put them in the Children's Shelter for the time being," he said.

Early last fall a woman walked into the police station and told the desk sergeant that she was leaving her children for the police to look after. She walked out of the station before police could question her, leaving four little children in the office.

WHEAT MARKET CONTROL URGED BY M'FARLAND

International Plan For Equitable Reduction Of Production Favored

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Jan. 12.—Canadian co-operation in an international plan for equitable reduction of wheat production with government control of marketing until improvement in the balance of production and effective demand was urged here today by John I. McFarland of Calgary.

Mr. McFarland was chairman of the 1935 Canadian Wheat Board and previously conducted wheat stabilization operations for the Dominion government on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Dealing extensively with the wheat industry and relation of markets to Canadian economy, Mr. McFarland said he held the view that "Canada should co-operate with other countries in working out a plan for a general and equitable reduction of wheat production with government control of marketing until a decided improvement has been realized in the balance between production and effective demand."

UNDER CONTROL

HOUSING ACT TO BE FREED OF OBSTACLE

Provincial Government Plans Legislation To Facilitate Federal Plan

Legislation will be introduced by the government, at the session opening on Feb. 9, which will remove any existing obstacles to Alberta residents participating in the Dominion housing program, it was learned in reliable circles on Thursday.

The proposed legislation will be in line with the general policy of the government in revising the existing economic structure and improving the living conditions and status of the people generally.

General principle of the bill will be mainly to remove any possible present objections which the loan companies may have to the Alberta debt legislation.

The companies have not been extending the privileges of the loans under the housing plan to this province, on the ground that the existing debt legislation precludes the payment of obligations and that any loans under the housing plan would come under this category.

HOUSING ACT FREE

The chief clause in the proposed bill will be to the effect that no provision of any of the Alberta debt

525 MILLIONS ASKED FOR U.S. DEFENCE PLAN

President Roosevelt Requests Sum Be Appropriated At Once

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Roosevelt asked the United States Congress today for an immediate appropriation of $525,000,000 as the "minimum of requirements" for bulwarking the country's defence against the "possibilities of present offence against us."

NEW NEEDS OF ARMY

Of the $525,000,000 the President asked that $430,000,000 be allocated for new needs of the army, $65,000,000 for similar requirements of the navy and $10,000,000 for training civil air pilots.

The $390,000,000 of the army fund should provide a minimum increase of 1,000 planes, he said, adding it was hoped orders placed on a large scale will "materially reduce the cost and actually provide many more planes."

Of the $150,000,000 balance for the army, $110,000,000 would go for "critical items" of equipment such as anti-aircraft artillery, anti-automatic rifles, anti-tank guns, tanks, light and heavy artillery, ammunition and gas masks—all to equip regular army and national guard units.

DEMANDS WILL BE PRESENTED BY MUSSOLINI

Chamberlain Will Hear Duce Define "Justice" Policy

he sets as the price of peace and likely revolving about control of the Mediterranean and colonial concessions.

Mussolini laid down the policy of "peace founded on justice" in a friendly toast at the banquet he gave the British Prime Minister last night.

- Mr. Chamberlain in answering the toast said his wish was for a joint and peaceful solution of international difficulties by the method of negotiation.

TALKED INFORMALLY

The two talked informally for 90 minutes at one meeting yesterday and chatted again after the banquet. The formal conference today included, as did the previous discussions, Foreign Ministers Lord Halifax and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law.

Mr. Chamberlain began by offering nothing merely by listening to Mussolini's demands which diplomats expected would be considerable.

It is the Fascist conviction Italy either must dominate or be a prisoner in the Mediterranean.

SEA VITAL TO EACH

The two statesmen, in their toasts, affirmed past Italian and British assertions that the sea was so vital to each it could be made a bond of union rather than the bone of contention.

But Italy has indicated by her recent course she feels this union can be achieved only by sacrifices from a third party, France.

The outcome of the talks, therefore, depended largely on how much Mussolini could get Mr. Chamberlain to ask France to give, and how France responded to this means of appeasement. France, in a preliminary answer, declared she would yield "not an inch" of colonial territory.

Interwoven are other problems, such as the war in Spain, British fears of German encroachment in the Mediterranean and lagging Italian-British trade.

Those accompanying Mr. Chamberlain announced themselves pessimistic over the chances of any concrete political achievement coming out of the trip.

Official Honors Are Clouded By Sad News

ROME, Jan. 12.—The grave illness and unconfirmed rumors of death of Princess Mafalda, second daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena, today clouded Italy's official honors to Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax.

While the King entertained the visitors at a State luncheon, the Queen kept to her private apartments. Her inability to attend the luncheon caused women to be excluded from the guest list.

Officials would make no public statement on the condition of the princess as the entire royal family gathered in Rome, but the United States ambassador, William Phillips, was told by palace authorities she was "holding her own".

Princess Mafalda, wife of Prince Philip of Hesse, had been ill for some time of pleurisy at her apartment at the Villa Savoia. Friends said privately she was dangerously ill of double pneumonia. She was 36 years old November 19.

Yesterday, owing to Princess Mafalda's illness, the royal family announced the postponement of the wedding of the sovereign' youngest daughter, Princess Maria, to Prince Louis of Bourbon-Parma, scheduled for Sunday.

Germany, Italy May Quit Committee

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—A source close to the German government said the failure of Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Mussolini to see eye to eye on a swift conclusion of the Spanish war might lead to withdrawal of Germany and Italy from the Spanish non-intervention committee.

Gangland Squad Kills Torontonian

A gangland execution squad shot and kicked James Windsor, left, to death after invading his Toronto home with drawn revolvers. Windsor, a well-known Toronto bookmaker and operator of a 10-cent dance hall and barbecue, was shot and beaten to death before the eyes of his two sisters and his 18-year-old friend, Lorraine Bronell, right, by four men, who, after shooting him in the stomach, kicked him about the head and took a number of valuable jewelry he was wearing. Police have offered $1,500 reward for the capture of the killers who are thought to have wreaked gangland's vengeance on Windsor because he refused to pay $25 a week for "protection" for his barbecue and dance hall.

Gray Denies

"You can make that denial as strong as you like", said Mr. Gray. "There was not even a suggestion of forcing me to make such a choice and I resent the implication very much."

A meeting of the board of directors of the eastern irrigation district is expected to take place in a few days at which Mr. Gray will reveal his future relations with the irrigation organization, which he joined in 1935, he intimated. Until then any conjecture was premature.

"To anticipate what that decision may be, or to suggest, as this report does, that it is being made under pressure, is certainly most unfair," said Dr. Walter Murrish, M.L.A., in denying that Mr. Gray had been asked to choose between resigning from the party leadership or the irrigation district.

MORRISH REGRETS

"I listened to every word at the executive meeting Saturday and I certainly don't know where such a report came from. Publication of this report, before the meeting of the board of directors, cannot but greatly embarrass Mr. Gray as a private citizen and I deeply regret it," said Dr. Morrish.

In a public statement issued at the end of its meeting Saturday, the executive had voiced its unanimous confidence in Mr. Gray's leadership of the party.

In addition, the executive had empowered Mr. Gray to define the party's position on many provincial matters in an address to be delivered shortly. Mr. Gray is expected to announce the date of the address soon.

C.N.R. Bond Issue Is Oversubscribed

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, announced today the $50,000,000 Dominion guaranteed Canadian National Railways Company bond issue has been oversubscribed.

Allotments were made of $15,000,000, 2¼ per cent seven-year bonds and of the $35,000,000, three per cent 25-year bonds.

where wheat was grown. The Canadian Wheat Board's minimum price of 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern at Fort William was fair and every reasonable farmer was satisfied, he declared.

Mr. McFarland said he knew there were many farmers who were fearful the Federal government might be influenced to withdraw the pegged price. "Under existing conditions that would be unthinkable, and I refuse to believe our Federal government would for a moment consider such a proposal," he said.

MUST CO-OPERATE

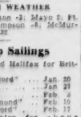

"Our farmers can compete with farmers of other countries under equality of circumstances, but I submit they cannot be expected to compete against governments. On the other hand, the prairies must cooperate and do their part in co-operation with the Canadian government to bring about a solution," he added in suggesting co-operation in reduction of production.

Production and sale of wheat was vital to Alberta, said Mr. McFarland, and Alberta should stand ready to co-operate with the Dominion government in finding a solution to wheat problems.

Seating Plan To Remain Near Same

OTTAWA, Jan. 12. — The Conservative seating plan in the house of commons undergoes a minimum of disturbance today to accommodate the new Conservative leader, Hon. R. J. Manion, and the new front-bencher, Hon. H. H. Stevens, according to arrangements made between last night after an all-day caucus.

As forecast, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett will be named desk-mate of his successor, being assigned the seat to Dr. Manion's left. Mr. Bennett will not attend the opening of parliament.

NOW IN CALGARY

He is in Calgary and is not expected to appear before he leaves at the end of the month to make his home in England.

At the desk to the leader's right will be R. S. White (St. Antoine-Westmount). Mr. Stevens will take the seat on Mr. White's right.

The other frontbenchers last year on Mr. Bennett's left will remain there.

IN STEVENS' SEAT

They include Hon. Grote Stirling (Yale) and Mrs. George Black (Yukon). Mrs. Black will occupy the seat which last year belonged to Mr. Stevens.

Yesterday's caucus was devoted largely to organization for seasonal activity. All Conservative members of the house of commons except Mr. Bennett attended.

Marking a change from traditional Conservative practice of having the leader preside at caucus, John R. MacNicol (Davenport) was elected permanent chairman of the caucus.

PUBLIC MEET IS CALLED ON ROYAL VISIT

Mayor Invites All Organizations To Gathering In Memorial Hall

Public meeting at which a civic committee will be formed to prepare reception arrangements for the visit of the King and Queen in June will be called Monday, January 16, at 8 p.m., in the lounge room of the Memorial Hall by Mayor John W. Fry.

The mayor announced Thursday that he was placing official notices in the newspapers of the meeting and was writing letters to organizations which already have offered co-operation in the plans.

Representatives of the provincial government and city council are expected to be present.

The mayor said he had been informed by Premier Aberhart that the latter had received no official communications from the federal government regarding arrangements should be made.

"None of us have any official word," the mayor said. "Up to the present we are depending entirely on the information published in the newspapers for our guidance."

in the government buildings was large enough to accommodate the attendance, the cafe where association meetings are usually held being far too small.

The provincial executive report followed consideration of the whole question by that association.

Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, had submitted a letter to the association's annual convention in December asking that the civil service accept 50 per cent of their salaries in treasury vouchers.

The report of the executive adopted varied this to 25 per cent.

NET SALARY

The executive recommended that for three months all Civil Servants residing at points where treasury branches are established, accept 25 per cent net salary in cash and the transfer vouchers, the net salary to be that part of their pay after deductions for superannuation fund and voluntary contributions are made.

The above was made subject to the following:

The provincial executive is to co-operate as fully as possible to see that the scheme undertaken is carried out.

The scheme is to apply to all paid employees of the civil service, including the Alberta government telephones, the Liquor Control Board, the University of Alberta, the Social Credit Board and members of the cabinet.

Any application for exemption may be considered by the joint council of the civil service.

The government is to endeavor to extend in every way possible the use of treasury vouchers so that the service will not be restricted in the use of same.

FULL REVISION

In March a full revision of the agreement will be undertaken, when renewal, revision or cancellation can be carried out.

Before any final agreement is reached, the association must submit it for ratification to the various branches and when approved by them a formal agreement will be made.

Oliver and Edmonton branches have approved the plan and Calgary will consider it on Thursday night.

Housing Plan

legislation will apply to loans under the Dominion Housing Act.

It is pointed out that there are now some exemptions under the debt legislation, such as loans given by the Canadian Farm Loan Board and some others and it is now proposed to add to this list of exemptions loans authorized under the Dominion Housing Act.

In some government circles there is a feeling that the companies should not come to a deal with the cities in respect to these loans, but should deal direct with the individuals and then they would feel reasonably certain that they would get a fair return on their investment.

APPROVAL FORECAST

It is learned that the proposed act is still in the formative stages and that it has neither been approved either by the cabinet or the Social Credit caucus, but as it is to conform with the general government policy of improved conditions, it is felt that approval will be given and that it will be brought into the house at the coming session.

The Dominion Housing Act makes available a total of $50,000,000 for housing throughout the country.

Of this some $20,000,000 is available for home building and $30,000,000 for loans to corporations to build homes on low rental rates.

$729 IN BANK; STILL CLASSED AS INDIGENT

EASTON, Pa., Jan. 12. — You can have $729 in the bank and still be classed as indigent, in the opinion of Judge Herbert Laub. He ruled possession of that sum did not bar Catherin Silvius from receiving state old age assistance because, he said, a person can not be supported by income from $729.

Speech From Throne

friendship and understanding upon both sides of our common border. It is particularly pleasing to the citizens of our country that the King and Queen have found it possible to accept the invitation of the President to visit the United States before the conclusion of their Canadian tour.

My ministers have found it necessary to give anxious and continuous consideration to developments in the international situation and their effects upon Canada. Our own relations with other countries continue friendly, but the aggressive policies actively pursued in other countries have inevitably had a disturbing effect upon every part of the world.

The government shared in the general sense of relief that the appalling disaster of war, which threatened Europe during the month of September last, was averted, and in the recognition which that crisis manifested of the widespread will of the peoples for peace.

STRENGTHEN DEFENCES

They are hopeful that the efforts now being made to find a solution for the specific differences which are causing friction will meet with success. They recognize, nevertheless, that time is required for these forces to work, and that the possibility of further tension in the meantime must be faced. In this situation, the government have considered that the uncertainties of the future, and the conditions of modern warfare, make it imperative Canada's defences be materially strengthened.

Two years ago, appropriations for defence were substantially increased, and a beginning made on a program of modernization to safeguard the country from dangers of attack. The government intend to pursue this policy vigorously, and to propose to parliament that the program of defence already begun be further augmented, and that particular emphasis should be laid upon air defence.

Legislation will be introduced to establish a defence purchasing board with power to purchase supplies, munitions and services and to ensure that, where private manufacture is necessary, they are produced economically and are fair and reasonable and the public interest is protected.

While taking the measures necessary to ensure the maintenance of our national integrity against the possibility of external aggression, the government have sought in positive ways to strengthen the mutual interests which unite Canada in friendly relations with other nations.

APPROVE TRADE PACT

You will be asked to approve the trade agreement with the United States of America, signed at Washington on Nov. 17 last. This agreement fulfills the hope expressed in the Speech from the Throne last year. Under the agreement with the United States, several existing preferences are increased and enlarged and the advantages of the agreements concluded in 1935.

Notwithstanding the embargoes, the conclusion of the new agreement between Canada and the United States, a similar trading agreement was effected between the United States and the United Kingdom. Taken together, the agreements constitute a considerable contribution towards the betterment of world conditions.

It is deeply gratifying to the government that in their efforts to increase, and to maintain over a longer period of time, the advantages to Canadian producers and consumers secured under earlier agreements, they were able, at the same time, to further the ends of international goodwill.

The Canada-United States agreements have involved, in addition to the wider markets secured for primary products, a thoroughgoing revision of the Canadian tariff structure, and a reduction of taxes on trade much greater than that made in any previous parliament, or by any other country in recent years.

TERMINATE AGREEMENT

Notice has been given, effective Dec. 31, 1939, terminating the Canada-West Indies agreement concluded in 1925. My ministers hope that negotiations will soon be entered upon leading to a new agreement which will be mutually satisfactory to the West Indian colonies and to Canada. In connection therewith the Tariff Board has been directed to make a careful examination of the sugar preferences and duties.

Unemployment in Canada continues to receive the unremitting attention of local, provincial and federal authorities. Having regard to the existing division of powers and obligations under the British North America Act, responsibility for unemployment and the solution of its problems is necessarily divided. There has been an increasing assumption of obligations on the part of the federal government.

OTHER METHODS

Employment in war industry and the regimentation of masses of men for purposes of war have, to appearances, afforded in some countries a solution of their problem of unemployment. In Canada other methods of dealing with the problem have been followed.

The Dominion government have taken active measures to stimulate private employment through the Home Improvement Plan, the National Housing Act, and the Municipal Improvements Assistance Act. Under these measures certain local tasks have been accomplished, and loans made to individuals, organizations and municipalities. The sales tax has been eliminated on important building materials. Special aid has been given to the mining industry by subventions, tax exemptions and improved transportation facilities. At the same time, direct employment has been increased through a substantial expansion of federal public works, and through assistance given to the provinces in the construction of highways, for land settlement, for special projects, for farm employment and for forest conservation.

Provision has also been made by the Dominion government for grants-in-aid to the provinces to assist in the care of those suffering from unemployment and agricultural distress.

The various measures adopted to stimulate employment and afford relief to those in need have operated most successfully in those provinces which have supported them with full co-operation.

PROBLEM AGGRAVATED

In Canada, the problem of unemployment has been aggravated in recent years by recurrent crop failures in the western provinces, and by the serious business recession experienced in the last year in other parts of the world. The intensification of the problem has set forth in bold relief the obstacles which the existing division of constitutional authority places in the way of a solution.

The report of the commission on Dominion-provincial relations will be presented to parliament in the course of the present session. In accordance with the purpose for which the commission was instituted, its report will provide the basis for, and the material essential to the deliberations of a national conference, at which, among the important subjects to be dealt with, will be the problem of unemployment and social services generally.

The government have not altered their view that a National Unemployment Insurance Scheme is essential to a permanent policy of meeting the problem of unemployment.

My ministers recognise the plight of those who are still unemployed cannot await necessary constitutional amendments, nor the summoning of any conference. They are prepared, therefore, notwithstanding constitutional amendments to effective action, to join with the provinces in a further determined effort to meet the immediate situation.

To this end it is proposed further to expand the government's relief program of public undertakings. In pursuance of the policy of the active encouragement of employment, it is also proposed to undertake, with provincial co-operation, to provide assistance to municipalities, which as an alternative to the provision of direct relief, desire to expand their normal program of civic improvements.

As a means of providing an opportunity for useful work and national service to single unemployed men the assistance given to forest conservation will be increased to include other work of national importance.

The beneficial results of the youth training program have demonstrated the wisdom of this experiment, and a measure will be introduced to increase its efficiency and expand its usefulness.

Notwithstanding the embargoes, ments and handicaps encountered in coping with the problem of unemployment, it is gratifying to be able to report that, during the past year, there has been a material reduction in the number of those receiving agricultural aid, and a reduction also in the total number of those receiving public assistance due to unemployment and agricultural distress.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASED

At the beginning of the present winter the number of those receiving such public assistance was almost 40 per cent less than two years ago. Over the same period the number of persons actually in employment has largely increased.

Continuous improvement in the position of the fishing industry as a whole has been reflected in annual increases for the past few years in the aggregate amounts received by the fishermen from their work. The department of fisheries has given, and will continue to give, increased attention to the problem of marketing. The government has also assisted fishermen substantially through direct aid.

In order to avert economic disaster in any part of our population, my ministers, under the terms of the Wheat Board Act, approved, for the current crop year, an initial payment for wheat as recommended by the board.

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Plan will be continued, the experience of the past year having demonstrated its efficacy in improving the agricultural areas of the west.

Bills will be introduced to regulate grain exchanges along the lines laid down in the report of the Royal Commission on Grain Marketing, to revise the Canada Grain Act, and to assist further in the marketing of farm products.

The Trans-Canada Airways will shortly provide a passenger service, in addition to the air mail and air express services already in operation. Preparations for the inauguration of the transatlantic air service have been and will be continued in collaboration with the governments of the United Kingdom and of Ireland.

In order to implement the recommendations of the Royal Commission to investigate the penal system of Canada, a bill to appoint a commission to administer the penitentiaries will be again introduced.

In this critical time of the world's affairs, I pray that divine providence may guide and bless your deliberations.

GREATER AREA TURNER VALE NOW PROVED

Home - Millarville No. 2 Well Brought Into Production Wednesday

CALGARY, Jan. 12—Col. Nelson Spencer, Vancouver, president of Home Oil Company, stated Home-Millarville No. 2 well blew in Wednesday and that "it is seemingly proving up a greatly added area to Turner alley's oil producing territory."

The well, situated approximately 17 miles northwest of the majority of Turner Valley crude wells 45 miles southwest of Calgary, was drilled to a depth of 8,480 feet, including 483 feet into limestone.

Heavy drilling fluid, down the hole more than 8,000 feet, was hurled from the well for an hour and 15 minutes today without any signs of a let-up, said Col. Spencer. "Experts say this proves the well has ample flow of gas to carry oil to tanks," Mr. Spencer added.

ON TEST TODAY

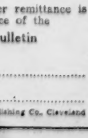

The well, he said, is expected to be put on a production test today.

Home-Millarville No. 2 produced oil in sufficient quantities from the upper lime zone at a level of 8,032 feet in December to be called a good well, said Dr. J. O. G. Sanderson, Home Oil Company geologist at that time. Officials, however, decided to drill down in the lower producing area. The second porous lime zone was approximately 85 feet, said Dr. Sanderson.

Rt.Hon. R.B. Bennett Voices Strong Plea For Unity In Canada

CALGARY, Jan. 12.—A plea for confidence in Canada, for unity in Canada and for preservation of democracy through individual restraint and sacrifice was voiced here last night by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, in his "farewell" address at a civic banquet held in his honor.

The 68-year-old former leader of the Conservative party in Canada and prominent lawyer, in giving advice for Calgary's future, warned of evils of repudiation and cutting interest. "Remember," he said, "without interest life insurance cannot exist."

An oil painting of mountain scenery by Ronald Gissing of Ghost River, Alta., was presented to the honored guest by Mayor Andrew Davison, on behalf of Calgary citizens.

Mr. Bennett, present member of parliament for West Calgary, recalled political campaigns shortly after his arrival here as a young lawyer from New Brunswick 42 years ago. It was different in those days, he said.

WASN'T MUCH THEN

In 1898 West Calgary "wasn't much of a constituency." He told them he remembers when this old North West Territories riding and of one incident when he got well digged out of as well to give him a campaign talk.

"We had a great human sympathy those old days. Sometimes we had resentment and opposition, but it did not really lessen our liking for one another.

"I regard the names of the old pioneers of Calgary. They have gone to their reward full of honors. They played their part as men—men of initiative, courage and resourcefulness," he said in telling of Calgary's change from muddy roads to "paved streets.

"Sometimes they didn't think much of the tenderfoot who had come among them," he said.

"They would ask me, 'Have a cigar?'

"No, I don't smoke," Mr. Bennett replied.

"Have a drink?' 'No, I don't drink.'

"Well then, what the hell good are you?" the old-timers would ask, said Mr. Bennett.

JUST IN THE WAY

In those days Mr. Bennett said people were mostly ranchers and the few agriculturists were thought of as being "just in the way."

Before coming to Calgary Mr. Bennett said he was an alderman in Chatham, N.B., and that he had drawn up the town's bylaws "so I'd get some practice."

He had lived with L. J. Tweedie, later premier of New Brunswick. "To him I owe a debt I shall never be able to discharge," Mr. Bennett said.

THREE QUALITIES

At a banquet before he left Chatham a journalist told Mr. Bennett "I had three qualities which to ensure success—some degree of great persistence and perseverance; and the essential of the trinity, gall."

Mr. Bennett recalled his first speech in the N.W.T. legislature at Regina, in which he declared the territories had existed long enough as such, and it was time they became provinces. Finally, terse, he said "I found myself representing Calgary at Ottawa."

It was a long way from Calgary to Ottawa, he said to young men at the banquet. "A young man entering federal politics must decide whether to accumulate enough money to keep him, or whether to become an indigent politician," said Mr. Bennett.

BLAMED CONDITIONS

The former Conservative leader stated that he did not blame the people for the Conservative government defeat in the 1935 federal general election. He blamed the conditions under which the people lived, he said.

"The unquestioned desire of democracies is to live and when they don't quite please them. And the easiest head to hit at that time was that of a fellow called Bennett."

As a result of political activities "I wore myself out a bit. The old heart got a bit weaker."

"I'd like to stay in Canada," Mr. Bennett continued, "but I can't stay on in this country, in the position in which I've been.

GOING DOWN TO SURREY

"So I'm going down to Surrey (England). You can fancy what a happy time I'll be having in an old pair of overalls watching the flowers. I really do seek rest."

Mr. Bennett said a section of West End London was disturbed today. He said a newspaperman called him and said:

"It is reported you are arriving shortly and are about to be married."

Mr. Bennett said he replied:

"Tell your readers Mr. Bennett expresses great interest and that he wants a photo of the lady in question at the earliest possible convenience. He has neither heard of her nor seen her."

CALGARY, Jan. 12—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, said Wednesday that a report in the "Talk of the Day" column of the London Evening News to the effect he is expected to announce his engagement soon was "nonsense."

"It's about the 20th time I've heard such rumors," Mr. Bennett said. "I don't know anything about it. It's nonsense, as usual."

BI-PARTISAN ASSAULT ON TRADE PACTS

Lines Being Drawn For Attack On Roosevelt Policies

By W. G. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Lines are being laid in the United States congress for what easily may become a broad assault on the trade agreements policy by which President Roosevelt's administration has tried to pry open foreign markets.

State Secretary Cordell Hull's visit to the senate finance committee tomorrow will open the way for a discussion of the whole policy.

Besides Republicans, some Democrats and several of the farm organizations are assailing the trade agreements. Changes proposed range from a complete repeal to the simple restoration of senate power to approve or disapprove the treaties worked out by the state department.

SCORE IN EFFECT

Almost a score of these treaties have been put into effect, setting up trade alliances with as many nations. They included the recent Anglo-American agreement and a revision of the Canadian-American pact. Each treaty has produced its own group of dissatisfied Americans. The latter complain that every time the tariff barriers are lowered on any foreign commodity, that article is brought into keener competition with some American product.

For example, when the agreement was signed recently with Canada, the National Live Stock Growers' association complained that the administration was "trying to sell us (the beef industry) down the river" by cutting the duties on Canadian cattle and beef.

Hull's appearance before the senate committee grew out of a recent report from Havana that an agreement had been reached to reduce the tariff on Cuban sugar. The state department announced two days after the Havana report that a public hearing on a supplementary Cuban treaty would be held.

HALF MILLION MORE JEWS TO BE GIVEN HOMES

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—George Rublee and Robert T. Pell, officials of the inter-governmental refugee committee, obtained Reichsbank President Dr. Hjalmar Schacht's promise yesterday that he would consult "other members of the government" about the committee members' arguments for an agreement to resettle German Jews abroad.

The negotiations are understood to involve removal of 500,000 to 500,000 of Germany's nearly 700,000 Jews over a period of several years.

If such a scheme proved successful, Germany would get rid of most of her Jews and keep their fortunes within Germany.

RECORDS BARE NAZI TIEUP IN MANITOBA ZONE

Propaganda Spearpoint Is German Paper In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Jan. 12—The Winnipeg Tribune today says "a direct tie-up between German government officials and Nazi propaganda in Manitoba is revealed by records in the office of the provincial secretary of Manitoba."

The paper adds:

"Spearpoint of the Nazi propaganda drive not only in Manitoba but for all Canada, is the Deutsche Zeitung, a weekly newspaper published in Winnipeg and edited by Bernhard Bott.

BACKS UP RODDE

"Last week when Wilhelm Rodde, the German consul, accused Archbishop Sinnott of spreading false statements about conditions in Germany, the Zeitung backed up Herr Rodde with a bitter attack on the archbishop for his denunciation of Nazi-ism."

The Roman Catholic Archbishop became involved in an exchange of correspondence with the German consul when the latter objected to statements made in a Christian Eve sermon by the archbishop, who had described Nazi efforts to eliminate the Christian manner of celebrating Christmas.)

DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS

The Tribune says: "For the last three years—ever since it was founded—the Zeitung has been demanding that Germans in Canada be given the same minority rights of language schools, etc., as the French-Canadians.

"The Zeitung is the organ of the Deutscher Bund, Canada, the pro-Nazi party organization in Canada."

The German consul declared he had "no statement at all" regarding the matter. Mr. Bott also had no comment.

SHOTS FIRED AT CONSULAR HOME AROUSE FURY

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Long-distance shots reported to have been fired at a German consular official's private home and a legation secretary's workroom in Holland today caused an outburst of fury in German papers which unanimously assumed the culprit must be Jewish.

Parallels were drawn from the murder of Ernst Von Rath, legation secretary in Paris by the 17-year-old Polish Jew, Herschel Grynszpan Nov. 7, and the Netherlands government was advised to see to it that its hospitality to Jews was not further abused.

The reports printed here said the shots were fired by a person or persons at a German consular's private home in Amsterdam Jan. 6 and at the work room of a secretary of the German legation in the Hague Jan. 9.

SPAIN REBELS LAUNCH DRIVE ON TARRAGONA

HENDAYE, France, Jan. 12—Spanish insurgents forces, already in sight of the Mediterranean, gathered momentum today in their drive toward Tarragona, threatening to isolate government troops to the south.

General Franco's troops were reported advancing southward from Montblanch, gateway to Tarragona, which fell into insurgent hands late yesterday.

Insurgent officials said during the past 20 days of fighting their armies had occupied 1,200 square miles of territory, taken more than 125 villages, captured more than 30,000 prisoners.

Plan To Make Montreal Air Terminus Irks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Representative Brewster (Rep., Maine) charged Wednesday British plans for trans-Atlantic air service contemplated making Montreal the main terminal on this continent, "although 90 per cent of the traffic would be American."

Brewster, member of the house naval affairs subcommittee on aviation, said a recent announcement Imperial Airways is planning flying the Atlantic next June was made without consulting Pan American Airways officials who had delayed their plans for such service so the British and American lines could start simultaneously.

Committee Formed By Railway Unions

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The 18 standard railway labor unions, in conference here Wednesday, set up a co-operative committee to negotiate and co-ordinate their legislative activities. Grand Jury to Probe Strange Happenings on Board Hollywood Ship

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12. — A grand jury was called into session today to probe strange happenings aboard the three-master schooner Melba Nelson—"a real hell ship" on her cruise to the south Pacific for sharks and buried treasure.

Expected to testify were Marino Bello, stepbrother of the late Jean Harlow and director of the expedition; Evelyn Husby Bello, nurse he married three days after the voyage started last September; Countess Dorothy Di Frasso, Hollywood heiress, and Richard Gulley, familiar figure in Hollywood and cousin of Anthony Eden, former British foreign minister. Capt. R. B. Hoffman and members of the crew likewise were ordered to appear.

The jury's inquiry will centre around the arrest of Charles Segal, Hollywood sportsman, and Abraham Kapellner, who left the ship in November at San Jose, De Guatemala but were arrested here by federal agents on mutiny charges.

They accused the German captain of Jewish persecution.

Hoffman denied demanding the arrest of Kapellner, saying he served the American consul at San Jose because Kapellner "became mentally disarranged during the cruise," and "I wanted to put him ashore."

The captain disclosed a search for buried treasure on Cocos Island was the object of the cruise of the ship, though Bello had announced it was a shark hunting expedition.

"Bah," Hoffman said with disgust, "all we found were a lot of picks and shovels left by other treasure hunters."

BURMA - CHINA TRADE SEEN AS RESULT OF WAR

By G. E. POWELL
Canadian Press Correspondent

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 12—Optimistic Burmans hope for development of profitable trade between China and Burma as a result of the Sino-Japanese war.

A shipload of munitions for China, brought to Rangoon in a British vessel, has been unloaded into warehouses and is under a strong Burmese military guard. Meanwhile another munitions shipment has arrived in a Norwegian vessel.

Burmese authorities foresee the growth of general trade between Burma and the Chinese province of Yunnan. One or two newspapers professed alarm at the sight of armaments in the Rangoon river. But the government of Burma issued a communique declaring it was not aware of any intention to interfere with this particular traffic, regarded as merely incidental.

Refugees To Be Aided In Leaving Czecho-Slovakia

PRAGUE Jan. 12—A quarter of a million refugees who fled into the interior of Czecho-Slovakia to escape the triple squeeze of Germany, Hungary and Poland last fall learned yesterday they will be aided in leaving the country soon in "a humane manner."

47 JOBLESS REFUSE TO LEAVE B. C.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 12—A spokesman for 47 men who left the British Columbia government's forestry camp at Cultus Lake Tuesday, said Wednesday the men would not accept transportation out of the province as provided under a provincial government scheme.

The men, who left the camp in protest against the discharge of three men who failed to report for work, arrived on the Freight train last night. They were fed and given beds at a city hostel.

H. W. Mason, spokesman for the group said the men would return to the camp near Chilliwack 70 miles east of here, if the three men discharged were reinstated.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—A 21-year-old girl who died in hospital after swallowing poison in a Young Women's Christian Association cafeteria here Tuesday, was identified last night as Joan Simpson of Montreal. The girl said before she died her name was Marion Jones and she was a native of Calgary, Alta.

Identification was made by a friend, Sophia Bushynsky, also of Montreal, who told police she and her friend came to Toronto to sell magazine subscriptions. Police believe Miss Simpson met with no success in her selling efforts and became despondent when her money gave out.

Defence Program To Get Right Of Way In Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—United States congressional leaders agreed to give right-of-way to a national defence program of spectacular proportions as soon as President Roosevelt submitted his recommendations.

Well-informed legislators heard in advance the $500,000,000 defence program would recommend thousands of planes for the army and hundreds for the navy, new air bases, stronger Panama Canal defenses and gearing of industry for mass production of munitions in an emergency.

FRANKFURTER APPOINTMENT IS PROTESTED

Witness Says Move Will Fan Wave Of Anti-Semitism

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — A Senate witness opposing the appointment of Felix Frankfurter to the United States supreme court declared Wednesday, over strenuous protests from Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho) that such an appointment "would fan a wave of anti-Semitism" in the country.

Borah tried to halt testimony of the witness, Allen Zoll of New York City. Zoll, who disavowed any anti-Semitism on his own part, was allowed to continue after a poll of the committee.

Frankfurter, Austria-born son of Jewish parents and noted liberal professor at Harvard Law School, has been nominated by President Roosevelt. A Senate judiciary sub-committee is hearing testimony on his qualifications.

Before Zoll's appearance, Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, who described herself as an author of "anti-Communist books," offered to prove that President and Mrs. Roosevelt were "dangerous radicals."

Mrs. Dilling also offered the opinion that Senator Borah and Senator Norris, (Ind., Nebraska), among others, were "radicals" and that Gifford Pinchot, a Republican party leader, was "a very dangerous man."

BERLIN, Jan. 12. — Chancellor Hitler and the Berlin diplomatic corps gave their separate thanks for the "peace of Munich" today in the traditional New Year's reception, held this year in the glittering new hall of the chancellery which the Fuehrer designed for himself.

Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio and dean of Berlin diplomats as they entered, acted as spokesman and tendered "public honor" to the "record of the courageous creators of this (Munich) accord."

Hitler replied that the "peace of Munich" was by all due to "the recognition of the fact that necessities were founded upon historical development and that a people must sooner or later be acknowledged and may not be denied by force."

Motherwell Will Urge Agric Grow More Coarse Grains

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—Proposals to encourage prairie farmers to grow more barley, rye and alfalfa with a consequent reduction in wheat production, were given an airing in parliament by Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib., Melville), who is in Ottawa for the session after spending the Christmas holidays in Saskatchewan.

The veteran grain grower and former minister of agriculture said Wednesday the London meeting of the international wheat advisory committee was important and might help, but Canada should be wise itself to work out its own salvation.

Young Girl Now Held Accomplice Of Ex-Convict

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—Juvenile court authorities held on a morals charge last night a 17-year-old girl alleged to have been a companion of Victorien Perreault, petty criminal and burglar shot to death by police Tuesday in a side-walk revolver fight with a policeman.

Police said the 24-year-old Perreault, shot to death after he had opened fire on Constable Lucien Bourgela, had been sought with the girl as a juvenile court warrant charging immoral conduct.

Meanwhile, hospital authorities gave the 42-year-old constable a "good chance" to recover from a chest wound suffered as he chased the bandit after an attempted restaurant holdup.

Asturias Prince May Visit King: Mediation Sighted

PARIS, Jan. 12—Havas News agency in a dispatch from London tonight said a report is current in informed circles that Don Juan, Prince of the Asturias and heir presumptive to the ex-exiled Spanish throne, has been invited with his wife to visit King George and Queen Elizabeth.

The report was declared by the same sources to be related to a move expected to be made by Prime Minister Chamberlain during his current visit to Rome—to mediate the war in Spain.

Dog's Ears Valuable

FREEHOLD, N.H. Jan. 12. — A dog's sense of hearing, a jury decided, is worth $50. That amount was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brock of Keyport, who sued an oil company for their dog's loss of hearing in an automobile accident.

Bennett Leaves Ornate Suite for Tiny Room In Garret Under Roof

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the squire of Juniper Hill, is still a member of the Canadian House of Commons.

He has left his ornate suite in the Parliament buildings, for immediately he relinquished the leadership of the party he offered his quarters to the new leader, a courteous gesture which the new leader was not able to accept, not being at that time a member of parliament.

When Dr. Manion was elected, the offer was accepted. Mr. Bennett was transferred to a small suite on the third floor, vacant during the recess.

The owner of the suite has now turned up for the room and Mr. Bennett has had to move again.

MOVED TO GARRET

The star lodger of the fine third floor front has been moved up to a garret under the roof.

The tiny room has half its ceiling on the slope, and a window the size of a suitcase. Mr. Bennett will have to go out in the hall to change his mind, and any deliberation he gets will have to park on the stairs.

His next door neighbor is Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. M.P. for Vancouver South.

Down the hall is John Blackmore, Social Credit leader.

Along the cross corridor are Miss Agnes MacPhail and also J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F. They look big airy rooms facing on the inner court.

A few steps away on the same corridor is Mrs. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon, whose husband was Mr. Bennett's first Speaker.

EDMONTON MAN

Eastward under the same roof slope is J. A. MacKinnon, M.P. for Edmonton.

Mr. Bennett is in excellent company, but he is crowded. His secretary, Miss Alice Miller, will have to sit out in the hall to take letters from her chief.

Only Mr. Bennett knows whether he will take his place in the House this session. They said goodbye to him in parliamentary fashion last year. His entry to the House this year would be an anti-climax.

Mr. Bennett, however, as a sitting member will have access to the lobby and of the Commons and may see the unusual spectacle of an eminent oppositionist fraternizing in the government lobby.

Hitler Boasts Largest Stuy Of Any Ruler

BERLIN, Jan. 12—Nine pencils in different colors lie on Adolf Hitler's desk in his chancellery study, probably the largest study maintained by any ruler today.

There are also a large magnifying glass, indicating extensive study of maps, and a case for eyeglasses.

There are no pictures but books and daily use make Hitler's room de Mein Kampf; Hans Krank's book of German law, directories of the Reichstag, government offices and youth groups, and—topmost—a volume on British and German law in the Great War.

The room is 88 by 45 feet and 32 feet high. At one end is a round table and chairs and sofa under a Lenbac portrait of Bismarck. The desk is at the other end. A bust of Von Hindenburg is in one room.

Three-Man Board To Study Report On Coal Industry

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The Dominion government Wednesday appointed a three-man committee to study and report on requests of a New Brunswick delegation for Dominion aid to the coal industry of that province.

New Brunswick requested the Dominion pay switching charges from coal mines to main lines of the railways and pay rail subventions to enable domestic coal to compete with coal from outside the province.

Three Trustees Are Re-Elected Lamont Division

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LAMONT, Jan. 12.— All three trustees standing for re-election in the Lamont School Division No. 18 were returned at elections held last Friday, according to results issued by the secretary, Marshall Wocenko, Wednesday.

Peter Moschansky was re-elected in sub-division 2 with a majority of 35. M. Seminiuk and D. Uhre were returned in sub-division 3, with respective majorities of 35 and 106. These were elected for two years. Continuing trustees are Fred Sleller and D. Sorochan.

ANGLO-FRENCH FEAR GROWING IN WAR THREAT

Reported Opinions Of U.S. Envoys Increases Apprehension

LONDON, Jan. 12—The reported opinion of United States Ambassadors Kennedy and Bullitt that European developments threaten war this spring has increased British and French fears that Italy and Germany are out to dominate the western Mediterranean.

While it is not known here what Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, envoys of Britain and France, respectively, had in mind, it is generally assumed they must have referred to, among other things, Italy's campaign for part of the French Mediterranean empire and the new Insurgent offensive in Spain.

(Kennedy and Bullitt appeared yesterday before a joint session of the house of representatives and senate military committees in Washington.)

French sources said they thought the ambassadors' pessimism was justified. They indicated any Italian attempt to force France to give up any possessions would precipitate war.

Germany's principal reaction was that the Kennedy-Bullitt opinion was—as the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger put it—aimed at "Making congress pliant to the wishes of Roosevelt."

Moscow commentators sharply discounted any predictions of imminent war insofar as any German threat to the Soviet Ukraine is concerned—on the opinion that Germany is still far from prepared.

Interesting To Know Exact Terms Employed

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—It would be very interesting to know the exact terms employed by Joseph Kennedy and William Bullitt, United States ambassadors to Great Britain and France respectively, in describing European war perils to the secret session of the Senate and House military affairs committee.

When the writer concluded a protracted tour of Europe the other day the war peril was seen generally accepted, but not in the near future.

Hitler's designs on the Ukraine present the most serious threat to peace—the only really grave threat in the picture.

Reports from Moscow say Russian commentators discount any predictions of war next spring over the Ukraine, and that a Hitler or no weak to attack that state. But if Hitler does move, Russia cannot be regarded as idly by while the richest part of her territory is taken away.

SEE GOOD CHANCE

Still observers see a good chance of avoiding the show in eastern Europe.

Mussolini's territorial claims against France have created a decidedly uncomfortable situation, but Europe will be surprised if war grows out of the dispute.

MUST SHOW WISDOM

The question of whether there is danger of a great war in the greater than distant future is another thing again. The European powers have now reached the definite conclusion that there must be a showdown of some sort with Hitler ultimately.

Should this be deferred several years, while all Europe piles up armaments, the danger will make the last great war seem like a peaceful summer's eve.

1,151,300 Workers May Lose Jobs If Appropriation Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The United States conference of mayors estimated in a statement Wednesday that 1,151,300 works progress administration workers would lose their jobs by June 30 if Congress does not grant the emergency relief appropriation from $875,000,000 to $725,000,000.

The reduced figure was approved by the house appropriations subcommittee after President Roosevelt had recommended the larger sum to carry W.P.A. to the end of the fiscal year.

Discretion In Order

Mr. Norman Jaques, M.P., told a Winnipeg audience Alberta is the bright spot in Canada. He had better not go about eastern Canada stressing that idea, or the financial interests there will be telling Albertans to pay their debts, public and private, and calling them names if they don't remit promptly.

Obviously we cannot at one and the same time boast that conditions are good in Alberta and also plead that we are too poor to pay. Both cannot be facts. And since the provincial debt policy is based on the claim that times are hard here, assertions to the contrary do not tend to justify the moratorium and debt-reducing legislation nor to satisfactorily explain the defaulting of bonds.

Highways Versus Railways

Officials of the three prairie provinces have been in conference here, with a view to standardizing the regulations under which commercial vehicles are operated on the highways. While they probably did not discuss this particular subject, the meeting is a reminder that the provinces set the conditions for traffic on the highways while the Dominion has to pay the deficits of the C.N.R. and lend money on occasion to the C.P.R.—largely because their rivals on the roads have taken away a large share of the traffic of the railways.

The situation is peculiar and the problem it presents will not be easy of solution. One way or another the public support both transportation systems, and have to pay the losses one imposes on the other. The highway-carriers operate by reason of public demand. But the public also need the railways. The difficulty is that the two agencies are actively competitive, rather than complementary. And the way to a solution is blocked because the provinces refuse to let the Dominion regulate highway commercial traffic, though it has to keep the railways going.

The net result is that the public, over a good part of the country, are made to support two transportation agencies where one could supply the service.

Left-Overs

Parliament, which meets in Ottawa today, has three left-over items of business from last session to attend to.

One is the prison reform scheme to which Hon. Ernest Lapointe called attention the other day. This is based on the Archambault report, was approved by the Commons but thrown out by the Senate for lack of time—curious as it may sound to suggest a lack of time on the part of the venerable second chamber.

A second left-over item is the bill to regulate expenditures in an election campaign. The Commoners took time out to study this proposal during the recess. From its nature it seems quite likely they have done some studying in the interval, with what result will appear in due course.

There is also the investigation started by a Senate committee into the question of railway amalgamation, under that or some less unpopular name. This was not finished when the last session came to an end. As the amalgamation idea got a rough ride at the hearings, it has been suggested the Senate may drop the inquiry, with as little noise as possible.

All three items should be taken up and finished at this session. Prison reform is overdue, especially in view of the flood of new depression-made law-breakers, mainly younger men. It is high time bounds were set to election expenditures, and the swindling of candidates by supporters. The Senate, having started to ventilate the amalgamation question, should finish the job, whether it likes the trend or doesn't.

The Problem of the West

The conference at Winnipeg on the subject of marketing western products naturally evolved into a discussion, in the main, of the position of the wheat-grower and the wheat-growing industry. The delegates did not agree on a method to solve the low-price problem, or the related problem of slack demand; beyond a continuance of the attempt to reach buyers in parts of the world from which Canadian and other foreign wheat is now excluded.

But they were unanimous in the conclusion that continued effort will have to be made along some line to the end of putting wheat production on a basis profitable enough to make the grower self-sustaining. And that meanwhile some system of subsidizing the industry offers the only chance to keep the producer on his land—which, in effect means off direct relief.

The conference also heard what is perhaps the most striking summary of the wheat situation yet made in a single sentence. A representative of the United States department of agriculture said if the great exporting countries continue to sow their present acreages they will have to reconcile themselves to the prospect of having 250,000,000 bushels of wheat thrown on the world market every year over and above the actual present demand.

That arresting statement gives a picture of the difficulties surrounding the production and disposal of the major crop of the west, a picture which may be familiar to wheat men but which others will find useful. Those in eastern Canada, for example, who have been saying harsh things about the west and the pegged price may ponder the declaration with profit.

If these will put alongside this statement the other fact that wheat-growing is the only possible basis for western agriculture, they should be able to see that the western farmer deserves something better than abuse, and that without the artificial support of a pegged price for wheat western farming would collapse. In which case of course the western market for eastern manufactured goods would shrink and western farm debts automatically become not collectable.

Editorial Notes

Vancouver reports 7,800 tons of wheat are to be shipped from that port to India. Parallel news would be the shipment of coffee to Brazil. Perhaps the Indian growers are sending their wheat to Chiang Kai-Shek's army via Burma and getting war prices for it?

A Japanese army spokesman says it will take 100 years to re-make China on the Japanese pattern. It won't take half that long to un-make Japan if the western powers enforce sanctions against it, or if the undeclared boycott against Japanese goods continues to spread as it is spreading at present.

Miss Reifenstahl, who crossed the ocean to charm away resentment against the persecution policy, says pictures of the Olympic Games of 1936 will not be shown in the United States because the makers and distributors of pictures at Hollywood "are opposed to Germany's political activities". Somehow that threat didn't seem to convert the picture-men; for Leni packed her bags and headed for home.

"Butterfield Says"

By JAMES BUTTERFIELD

ANTHONY EDEN: It is an extraordinary thing that during the course of North American history there have been many men who have come into the North American Continent and told the aboriginal fellows who rule the North American Continent where they get off at.

The latest of them has been Captain Anthony Eden, a gentleman who did not last very long as foreign secretary for the British Empire.

It was an unusual thing that Captain Anthony Eden should have been allowed to address the hundred and thirty million people in the interests of the British Empire, especially when those hundred and thirty million people are not particularly interested in the British Empire.

There was a moment two years ago when there might have been an opportunity that the great American Republic might possibly have brought itself back into the great British Commonwealth of Nations. Edward abdicated. That should have been the signal for a British republic. The moment was not taken. If it had been taken there would have been no reason why the great United States should not have returned to the British Commonwealth of Nations. Because the only thing they ever had against Britain, as shown by the Declaration of Indppendence, was the King.

SUICIDE?: There has been a case in the province of British Columbia in which a Japanese girl of fifteen has been accused of murdering herself by stuffing her head into a furnace. I have seen the said furnace in the local bastille, and it is impossible for me to imagine how any girl could stuff herself into it.

There are several things that the human race will face if they want to do away with themselves. They will shoot themselves, they will drown themselves, and they will cut their throats. But they will not face fire. Definitely.

This Japanese child was a sound child. She was just as sound as any other Canadian-born child. She was a Canadian-born child.

It is an extraordinary thing that the authorities have taken so little interest in this case, a case that merits as much attention as any other case that has been before us in many years.

TREES: Our old friend, who is now with God, Mr. Joyce Kilmar, wrote a poem about trees. He said among his other ravings that "only God could make a tree." Well, who on earth else would want to.

It recalls to me the story of the little bear who was swarming up a tree with all his little legs sprawled around it and he pretty nearly got to the top, but kept slipping down, and finally he said to himself, "After all, only God can make a tree."

Current Comment

Not One Visible

The suggestion of the News and Courier that there is no Julius Caesar in the public life of the United States to be a dictator moves the Montgomery Advertiser to mention Babe Ruth, whom it describes as a fat or fattish man. Does not the Advertiser know that the Great Julius would have only fat men in him because his fame that they would not care to be dictators? His aversion was to lean and hungry men who think too much. In the United States there is no lean and hungry man who thinks too much.—Charleston News and Courier.

America Speaks Up

Canadians everywhere will applaud the words and meaning of the American President when he uttered before the United States Congress yesterday a grave warning to those various dictatorships threatening democracy. He did not hesitate to forecast economic reprisals if this bedevilment does not cease.

One could not help feel, reading the text of his speech, that this was not the mere gesturing of a single individual in authority, but the considered words of the richest, most productive and largest world nation.

The President did well to stress the means other than war that exist for disciplining those nations which outrage international morality.

Germany and Italy may strut through Europe. Japan may swagger through Asia. But behind all this strutting and swaggering must lie the ability to provide those raw materials that maintain life and comfort.

America possesses this equipment preeminently. Her decision to use her ability to maintain peace and good feeling among nations is an historic and world-moving occasion.—Vancouver Sun.

"Asking" Mussolini

At a special meeting of the British cabinet today it is understood Prime Minister Chamberlain told his colleagues he would ask Premier Mussolini to withdraw Italian troops from Spain and improve Italy's relations with France. It is also believed that Mr. Chamberlain will not consider granting belligerent rights to the Spanish insurgents of General Franco or give any hope to Il Duce of British support to Italian claims for partial control of the Suez Canal.

One of the conditions of the operation of the Anglo-Italian friendship pact was Italy's progressive withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain. Premier Mussolini withdrew 10,000 tired veterans, obtained promulgation of the pact, and then immediately embarked fresh and better-equipped troops to take their places. Both Italian and German expert mechanics, of course, are still fighting might and main behind the lines to insure Franco's success. Mr. Chamberlain will have to do more than "ask" Mussolini to drop Italy's part in the Spanish civil war.

Any suggestion the British Prime Minister may make to Il Duce on the subject of improving French-Italian relations may be marked down as another "victory" for "appeasement." For Signor Mussolini knows by this time that France wants no interference from Great Britain—at least, not in the shape of mediation—in any dispute with Rome about her colonial empire. The initial cry for Tunisia in the Italian Chamber of Deputies marked the beginning of a priceless piece of Italian bungling. The ill-timed propaganda which has followed must have made even Reichsfuehrer Hitler groan.—Victoria Times.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Alas for the woes of a newspaper columnist. An esteemed cash customer, perturbed because this column protested against the petty persecution of Catholics as well as Jews in the Nazi countries, bids me read Robertson on "The Days of Charles V," Keith on "Prophecy," "The History of the Spanish Inquisition," "The History of the Covenanters," and Ezekial 32, verses 17-29. What a punishment for protesting against intolerance!

HE HANDS ME A REAL CHORE

Personally, I have no intention to read these estimable works of the intolerant past. In bed last night, reading Green's "Short History of the English People"—an excellent bed-book, demanding concentration and lacking excitement—I read how William the Conqueror, who brought the Jews with him from Normandy, denied them standing in the courts but gave them personal protection so he might levy on them at will. Says Green:

"To the kings the Jew was simply an engine of finance. The wealth which his industry created was wrung from him whenever the Crown had need. Torture and imprisonment were resorted to if milder entreaties failed. It was the gold of the Jew that filled the royal exchequer at the outbreak of war or revolt."

I wonder if Herr Hitler read Green before levying on the German Jews.

Details of the persecution and expulsion of the Jews from England in the early fourteenth century read like today's papers. "The sack of Jewry after Jewry was the sign of popular hatred during the Barons' war. Statute after statute hemmed them in. They were forbidden to hold real property, to employ Christian servants, to move through the streets without the two white tablets of wool on their breasts which distinguished their race. They were prohibited from building new synagogues, or eating with Christians or acting as physicians to them. Their trade was annihilated by a royal order, which bade them renounce usury on pain of death. On the eve of his struggle with Scotland, Edward, eager to find supplies for his treasury and swayed by the fanaticism of his subjects, bought the grant of a fifteenth from clergy and laity by consenting to drive the Jews from his realm."

A PAGE FROM ENGLISH HISTORY

Edward lacked the modern touch of Dr. Schact, who proposes to hold the Jews for ransom to be paid in German trade. He robbed them and drove them away. Green adds "One shipmaster turned out a crew of wealthy merchants on to a sandbank and bade them call a new Moses to save them from the sea."

Secretary Ickes spoke within the facts when he denounced the Nazi persecutions as a return to mediaeval barbarity. Ezekial or no Ezekial—for Zion, the Bible scholar, declares that no such prophet as Ezekial ever existed—I'd prefer to take my guidance from the humanities of today instead of from the cruelties of the past.

An old "townie" of mine whom I remember when a boy, died the other day. At the age of 82, Sir James (Call me "Jimmie") Sexton, organizer of the National Union of Dock Laborers, passed away at his home in Liverpool. "Jimmie" was a mere babe when his parents were driven from Ireland by the Irish famine. He was only a youngster of eight when he started work in the glass works of St. Helen's, near Liverpool, at half a crown a week. When his father died, this enlightened the burden of his widowed mother by going to sea at the age of 13. He knew how hard life was to the poor.

GRAND OLD MAN FROM THE DOCKS

Jimmie was working as a laborer unloading ships at the Liverpool docks in his early manhood when he met with a terrible accident, the marks of which he carried to the grave. The great steel hook of a loading crane tore away part of his face. For months he lay in hospital. On his discharge he received a cheque from the wealthy ship-owner—for the amount of his cab-fare to the hospital. That started his long fight to organize the dock workers and secure for them a compensation law. It must have been a proud moment in his life when, at the age of 62, Jimmie Sexton was elected a Labor M.P. for St. Helens—the place where he had toiled as a child of eight.

Always a "moderate," Sexton broke from his leader, Ramsay MacDonald, on the question of disarming Britain before rival nations. "Better tear down the poison gas factories in Russia before you dismantle the hangars in England," he said.

Though with little schooling, Jimmie contributed poems to the Labor press under the nom de plume of "Tatters," wrote a three-act play, "The Riot Act" which was successfully produced in Liverpool, and two years ago published his biography, "Sir James Sexton—Agitator."

When on his knighthood eight years ago reporters flocked to interview the man the King had honored, he said "Cut out the 'Sir' and call me 'Jimmie.' I'm still the Jimmy Sexton who worked at a dock laborer, glad to draw his fifteen bob a week."

THE EMERALD EDGE

For years I watched the waves break on Florida's coast without catching the greatest beauty of it all. How I study the big breakers for an instant's glimpse of the edge of the wave, just before it breaks into foam; and I see an emerald line more beautiful in color than any gem. The glory of that glimpse is sometimes fairly thrilling.

All who walk beside quiet seas miss this gleam of splendor. And they who live serene and comfortable and untroubled lives never know the beauty that rides on the edge of the tossing billows. Every stormy experience has its compensations. God reserves some secrets of happiness for those whose lives are cast amidst tempestuous seas.

Open our eyes, dear Father, to the rare delights that accompany hard and tumultuous experiences. Amen.

Endless Stories

Editor, Bulletin: There is a story of an eastern monarch many years ago, who to relieve the tiresome hours of his reign offered his daughter, together with a nice settlement, to the man who could tell him an endless story. There was one stipulation to curb the frivolous: death was to be the penalty for failure.

Several brave souls came forward, told their respective stories, some of which lasted for a few days, some for weeks, and some for a few months, but they all went out according to the story, feet first. At last there came forward a young man who informed the court that he had a story which had no end, and he was told to proceed after being warned as to the consequences of failure.

"Sire," he commenced, "there once lived a rich king, who, fearing that there might be a great famine in his land, ordered huge elevators and graneries to be built throughout the land. Near the royal palace the workmen constructed a most extraordinary huge elevator, and sealed every nook and cranny to prevent the entry of insects and vermin. At least they thought so, but as a matter of fact, one small opening had been left unsealed.

There was a great crop that year, and great pains was taken to store it away. A few weeks later a huge swarm of locusts flew over and settled in and around the royal elevator, and it was not long before they found the little hole in it.

Then one locust went in, took a grain of wheat, and flew away; then another locust went in, took a grain of wheat and flew away, then another locust went in, took a grain of wheat, and flew away; another locust went in, took a grain of wheat, and flew away; for nine months, the story droned on, "and another locust went in, took a grain of wheat, and flew away" until at last the King in sheer desperation cried—"Take my daughter, take half of my kingdom, but for heaven's sake get out of here—you and your locusts." Moral——

Mr. Editor, isn't it about time the Radio Commission and those responsible for programs coming over the air, leave at least one portion of the dial where a fellow can cut out the monotonous stories they have been putting over for this last year or so, together with tear jerking value of the producer's self? Edmonton. VEXATUS.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Here is a story of intrigue, adventure, disaster and despair, all arising from an appointment made by King Henry IV of France on January 12 1593. The beneficiary of the "royal grace" was an adventurer of Britany, who by his piracy and freebooting had played havoc with the English in the channel and the ports, and had been given the rank of marquis—the Marquis de la Roche. He was named lieutenant-general of "all Canada, Hochelaga, Newfoundland, Labrador, Saguenay, Sable Island and Nova Scotia," the latter being styled "Norumbega."

The marquis, thus given sovereignty over so enormous a territory, had plenty of ambition, but little cash. Yet he was determined to carry out his promise to colonize the new country for France. So he gathered together an army of criminals and beggars from the slums of Paris and herded them together in a ship so small and so weighted down with stores and livestock that it was at times in a grave peril from the Atlantic waves.

I do not know whether he reached the Nova Scotian coast, or what became of his "settlers", but he returned to France to report his failure, and to claim the country as no good. Some of his party remembered those marooned on Sable Island, and eventually a rescue ship was sent. Five years had elapsed. When the ship reached the island the captain found only about a dozen of the originals, clad in skins and more than half reverted to savagery. They were taken aboard ship, fed and clothed, and carried back to France. The animals are left behind, and they are supposed to be the progenitors of the famous wild ponies of Sable Island.

A London literary weekly publishes a short story about Eskimos, one of whom lives on an island in a lake. He reaches the mainland by a bridge of ice. When a character flies from the island after an escapade he breaks down the bridge to prevent pursuit.

It seems to have occurred to no one that if there was enough frost for the bridge no bridge was necessary.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

BRIDGE QUESTION IMPORTANT AT ROCKY HOUSE

The Board of Trade meeting recently again took up the question of a bridge across the North Saskatchewan river here, as the unusually mild winter had kept the river open until Christmas week, and with this week's mild weather, there is fear it will open again.

C.P.R. men explained that the bridge is the property of the Canadian Pacific, and also used by the C.N.R. Planking the present railway bridge has been brought up at a number of meetings, but the C.P.R. points out that it would have to be done so as to ensure safe traffic, and that the responsibility of providing highway facilities over the river rests with the government.

The road west from here to connect with the Jasper-Lake Louise road is nearly completed and a bridge, either a new highway one, or the railway bridge planked, will be necessary.

Business men and settlers have offered to plank the bridge themselves, but it was pointed out by the railway men that it was impossible to permit that, as such planking without proper railing, etc., would make crossing more dangerous than it is now.

Before anything can be done on the railway bridge, permission must be obtained from the Department of Transport at Ottawa. The Board of Trade decided not to let the matter rest, but to gather all available material and be prepared for a trip to Edmonton during the coming session of the legislature.

McLENNAN

Magistrate Stuart, of Peace River, held court in McLennan last week, convicting eight of 10 persons who appeared before him on charges of petty theft. He imposed small fines on the offenders.

MANNVILLE

Butterfly, Rain On Winter's Day Cause Excitement

Like hundreds of other citizens, Joseph Betz and his brother Max, were out in the country enjoying the balmy breezes Sunday afternoon. The walking was slippery on account of an early morning rain. Max was surprised to see a butterfly fluttering about. Rain and butterflies in January in Alberta! It's hard to believe, but nevertheless true.

Curlers will make merry at their annual dance here Friday evening in Orange Hall. The mild spell has slowed up the ice of the rinks; the skating sheet is also soggy.

Charles Stephenson, one of the oldest and most respected of oldtimers of this district was buried recently. The funeral was widely attended. The pioneer was identified with the founding of the town of Manmville back in 1906.

LACOMBE

DEAF MAN IS SOUND EXPERT

For the past few days, Lacombe has been witnessing one of the marvels of the age at work, a sound engineer who can speak very little and is totally deaf. He is W. E. Kinnear of Winnipeg, who with his right-hand man, Charles Maybee, also of Winnipeg, is installing new sound equipment in a local theatre. An expert for a large firm, Mr. Kinnear has been in the sound equipment business for ten years and has a fine reputation for accurate work. Unable to hear the musical notes and voices in a sound picture, he tunes them up to standard by instinct and the latest testing instruments. Mr. Kinnear and Mr. Maybee will make several other installations in Alberta theatres before returning to Winnipeg.

ERSKINE

Last rites for Mrs. D. C. Anderson, 54, were held in the I.O.O.F. Hall in Erskine on Sunday afternoon, January 8th. She leaves a husband and five children, three boys, Fred, Albert and Robert, and two daughters Irene and Marion. Mrs. Anderson has lived in the district for more than thirty years, the last nineteen being in the town of Erskine. Rev. Robert Pearson together with Rev. R. R. Davies of Stettler United church officiated.

LLOYDMINSTER

COUNCIL NAMES COMMITTEES AT FIRST MEETING

The new council for the town of Lloydminster held their first meeting in the town council chambers on Monday, January 9th, when the following were appointed: Finance, Mayor V. U. Miner, K.C., and the council; assessment, Councillors Dr. G. L. Cooke and W. Dafoe; properties, Councillors W. Dafoe and N. A. McLean; new buildings and fire bylaw, Councillors Dr. G. L. Cooke, N. A. McLean and the town solicitor; streets and team, Councillors N. A. McLean and R. L. Shaw and Dr. A. R. Gordon; relief, the mayor and council; parks, Councillors R. L. Shaw and A. J. Nicholas; fire, light, police and gas, councillors Dr. G. L. Cooke and R. L. Shaw; hospital, Councillors W. Dafoe, R. L. Shaw and A. N. McLean; health and sanitation, Councillors Dr. A. R. Gordon and A. J. Nicholas; water and cemetery, Councillors A. J. Nicholas and R. L. Shaw; tax arrears Councillors A. J. Nicholas, Dr. G. L. Cooke and W. Dafoe.

The first named in each case to act as the chairman of that respective committee.

The following committees were appointed by the council of the rural municipality of Britannia, No. 502, at their meeting held in Lloydminster: Finance, Councillors E. Seabrook and J. O. Cook; assessment, Councillors J. T. Redden and H. Haydock; school committee, Reeve A. A. Nelson and Councillor E. Seabrook; members of the Lloydminster United Hospital board, the Reeve, A. A. Nelson and Councillor J. P. Carmody; secretary-treasurer, S. M. Daly; health officers, Drs. G. L. and A. B. Cooke; solicitor, Mr. V. U. Miner, K.C.

Decision to begin a membership drive with an objective of 150 members was made by the Lloydminster Horticulture society at a recent meeting at the home of R. Delande. The society will foster the beautification of town and rural homes and arrange for a larger community display at the Lloydminster exhibition.

LACOMBE

Funeral of David Foren, 81, for 44 years a resident of nearby Chigwell, who died in hospital here Saturday evening following a long illness, was held from St. Andrew's United Church on Monday afternoon. Rev. A. L. Carr and Rev. G. A. Kettyls officiated and pallbearers were: Fred Sissons, Jim Fyfe, E. L. Leaher, Bob Gibson, W. Shanks and J. A. Bradley. Interment was made in the Lacombe cemetery.

Mr. Foren, one of the oldest pioneers in the district, homesteaded on his present farm when he came to the Chigwell district in 1894.

Envoy

appointed first Canadian Minister to Belgium and Holland. Mr. Desy was formerly counsellor at the Paris Legation.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

Citizens of this town will sit up and take notice even in their sleep the next time there is a fire in this town; the town fathers have installed a new electric fire siren this week to replace the old fire bell which sounded so much like a church bell that it was hard to know whether the call was to church or to fight a blaze.

HINES CREEK

On Thursday a number of volunteers left Hines Creek by sleigh to work on the road from Hines Creek to Fort St. John. The men were supplied with tools, food and clothing from the Hines Creek community.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

NORTHERN TOWN SAYS FAREWELL TO BUSINESSMEN

C. R. McKay, manager of the Bank of Montreal here for the past seven years, and who has been appointed to the inspection staff of the bank at Winnipeg, has been honored by the Grande Prairie Board of Trade with the presentation of an engraved gift.

Mr. McKay was a keen curler and members of the Curling Association also presented him with a curling trophy.

He is succeeded by T. H. J. Grierson who for the past five years has been an assistant-inspector for the Bank of Montreal in Western Canada branches. He served with the 49th Edmonton Battalion and after the war, returned to Edmonton. He also was manager at the Heisler, Three Hills, Chipman and Manville branches some years ago.

Appointed to the Edmonton office as assistant manager of Beatty Bros., J. C. Jaeger, who has managed the affairs of the company in the Peace River country for the past eight years, was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered him by the commercial travellers of the district recently. The executive of the Board of Trade presented him with a token of his work in the organization during his stay here.

BOWDEN

Funeral for Lucy McShane, 54, who died Friday, was held from St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Sunday afternoon. She leaves her husband, George McShane, president of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool; and one daughter Mrs. Charles Adams; also her father who resides in England.

Annual State Dinner Fetes 150 Guests

ONE hundred and fifty guests attended the annual state dinner given by Lord Tweedsmuir at Rideau Hall, in Ottawa, one evening this week. The occasion marked the opening of session of the Dominion parliament.

Silver bowls of daffodils and narcissi centred the horseshoe shaped table around which were seated Hon. Albert Matthews, lieutenant-governor of Ontario, Prime Minister Mackenzie King, foreign diplomats, heads of churches, Chief Justice Sir Lyman P. Duff and Supreme Court judges, privy councillors, cabinet ministers, honorary aides-de-camp and members of the vice-regal household.

RECEPTION FOR WOMEN

Later in the evening wives and unmarried daughters and sisters of the dinner guests were entertained at a small reception at Government House. Lady Tweedsmuir wore for the occasion a gown of grape and wine shaded chiffon designed with full skirt. A diamond tiara and a corsage of deep purple violets accented her costume.

Attending Her Excellency was Mrs. George Pape, lady-in-waiting, who chose a simple model of silver lame.

Mrs. Albert Matthews was gowned in emerald green velvet with gold jewelry and gold shoes. Mrs. A. S Redfern, wife of the secretary to the Governor-General, wore a severe model of emerald green crepe.

SEALING-WAX RED

A gown of sealing-wax red chiffon, with long fringe was chosen by Mrs. H. Willis-O'Connor, wife of the senior aide-de-camp.

Mrs. Robert Armstrong, of Toronto, wife of the aide-de-camp to the Lieut.-Governor, was gowned in rusty pink chiffon with stiffened skirt of pink lace.

Dinner Follows Royal Purple Lodge Meet

Following an impressive ceremony of the Order of the Royal Purple recently at which Mrs. T. Butterworth was installed as Honored Royal Lady, members were entertained at a delightful banquet in the Royal Canadian Legion. Mrs. Butterworth succeeds Mrs. T. Dipple and to her and other retiring officers attractive gifts were presented during the evening. Approximately 20 guests attended the affair.

Mrs. Empey Is Re-named W.A. Head

Re-electing Mrs. W. F. Empey as their president for 1939 members of McKay United Church, A. A. met recently and reviewed activities of the past year. Rev. A. W. McMinn, who presided during the election spoke of the wonderful spirit of co-operation which had prevailed among members.

In giving her treasurer's report, Mrs. C. W. Boon stated that $2,242.47 had been raised during the past year.

Mrs. A. K. McMinn, Mrs. P. C. Butchart and Mrs. M. Dove kindly consented to act as honorary presidents for the coming year.

Executive assisting Mrs. Empey consists of Mrs. J. F. Wheeling, first vice-president; Mrs. A. Speakman, second vice-president; Mrs. P. W. Stonehouse, third vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Poole, fourth vice-president.

Chatter....

LITTLE Lee Nichols, who was born in far away Bathurst, Island, N.W.T., and who is now in the city with her parents, is about as pretty and smart a child as a little person of 23 months can be. Although her "outside" habit is a soft blue snowsuit, coat, hood and leggings, her more familiar winter-time ensemble is miniature parka and mukluks. She hasn't forgotten them either. She put them on one day recently for our benefit and scampering up and down the room, her flower-like face buried in the soft fur of her parka, she kept shivering to herself and murmuring, "Windy . . . windy . . . windy!"

Now comes the question, "What are YOU doing with Christmas gifts that are too small, too big or duplicated too many times?" Friend of ours got a pair of white Indian moccasin slippers, all fur and beading heads. Only wrong thing about them was that they were a trifle too small . . . about two sizes we'd say. Wise friend of ours, who had been presented with pretty blue ribbon, dropped sachets into the toes of them, hung them on her bedroom wall and is now using them to store handkerchiefs in.

Women in 1929 were not wholly obsessed with such things as new bobbed hair styles, new two-piece frocks that boasted four tucked and uneven hemlines. Looking backwards in files of The Edmonton Bulletin for this week in January, we find Local Council of Women members taking proposals to the provincial government. Question was the case of "alien married women" in Canada; the possibility of women sitting on juries in criminal cases; and the compulsory acknowledgement of God at the opening sessions of the Public Schools.

1929 finds these proposals come to fruition. An alien woman marrying a Canadian man automatically becomes a Canadian citizen; women can now be panelled for jury work in criminal cases, and the recital of the Lord's Prayer at the opening of daily schools is the request of the Edmonton Public School Board. Mrs. W. J. Ross, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Ashton and Mrs. T. D. Fisher-son brought forward these proposals just ten years ago this week. Our compliments go to them!

Lucky, lucky Miss Evelyn Gowan Murphy, who with her father, Rev. Arthur Murphy, has left for Vancouver to spend the late winter and early spring. A yearly visit to the Pacific coast, the trip is made just at this time of year, and what we miss during her absence her many friends at the coast will enjoy. Her address in Vancouver will be the Hotel Vancouver. Bon voyage!

Things that rouse our ire in January: Fashion-conscious ladies into our offices of lovely gas basking in the warmth and beauty of a Southern Pacific midwinter sunshine, wearing the smartest and newest of beach creations. Should be a law about it, we think, because no matter how charitable we are, these "Pacific playground pictures do get us down!"

Ottawa House Has Brilliant Opening

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—A glittering panorama of bejewelled women in satins and metallics, gold-braided privy councillors and foreign diplomats in court costumes was presented against the red-cushioned benches of the senate chamber today when Lord Tweedsmuir officially opened the fourth session of Canada's 18th parliament.

19 GUNS

Nineteen guns boomed on parliament Hill at three o'clock, announcing the arrival of Canada's Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir accompanied by a mounted escort and five motorcycle policemen.

Gleaming medals, clinking swords and be-feathered helmets of the honorary aides-de-camp added a note of brilliance to the pageantry of the ceremony as they preceded the vice-regal party through marble corridors and past rows of senators, their wives and daughters, church dignitaries and members of the diplomatic corps to the north end of the red chamber.

After curtsying to His Excellency, Lady Tweedsmuir sat on a throne to the Governor-General's left, her two small velvet-clad page train-carriers perching on the edge of the dais.

A severe model of white satin sparkling with diamente in star pattern was the choice of Her Excellency for the opening. Her silver lame train was carried by the pages, Master Ruy Cote and Kenneth Green. She wore a diamond tiara in her hair.

Attending Her Excellency was Mrs. George Pape, Lady-in-waiting, whose full-skirted gown of judge's tan taffeta was marked at the low decollete with a corsage of white violets.

SCARLET ROBES

Picturesque in their scarlet ermine-trimmed robes, tricorn hats and soft patent leather high boots, the seven supreme court judges sat front of His Excellency's throne.

on the scarlet woolsac directly in front. Looking down on the ceremony from the gallery were members of the vice-regal household, wives of honorary aides-de-camp and several hundred spectators fortunate enough to secure seats.

Tudor Music To Be Heard In Fine Recital

Music of the Tudor Period will feature the delightful program presented by Miss Marion Keighley Snowden for her recital under the auspices of the Women's Musical club in the Masonic Temple on Saturday afternoon.

The instrument, the plays, the virginal, resembles the clavichord. Its history runs back to the 15th century. One of the explanations for the name it bears is that "maids and virgins do most commonly play on them."

The daughter of the Yorkshire novelist, Keighley Snowden and cousin of the late Sir Philip Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer, Miss Snowden is a professor in the Tobias Matthay school in London, England.

She is bringing her own virginals with her and will give a lecture-concert, further illustrated by slides and by an elaborate costume of the period which she will wear. The story of old English music will be told with historical detail acquired in more than 25 years research.

She is touring the dominion in concert. In London, England, she appeared on several occasions at Downing street and also played before Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Victoria and Princess Marie Louise.

South Africa Is Subject Of Address

Picturing vividly the country of South Africa, its scenery and its peoples, Mrs. M. J. Hilton delighted members of the Fort Edmonton chapter I.O.D.E. recently when she spoke informally to them at a meeting in the Macdonald hotel.

With great skill she gave, in a short time, a clear picture of the country, its growth and development, leaving her audience with a keen insight into the struggles being waged on this country today for supremacy and the reasons for that struggle on the part of the different countries engaged.

Various social activities of the chapter were reported by Mrs. Roy Weber, while Mrs. C. W. Boon spoke of the work being done and stressed the charitable we are, these "Pacific playground pictures do get us down!" F. D. H.

GOLF BALL IDENTIFIER

There's a clever new gadget out now that will intrigue the golf enthusiast—a golf ball marker. This little device is said to stamp the owner's name permanently into the ball with indelible ink without in any way harming the golf ball cover. Any name can be set (full alphabet is included) in the marker and name changes can be made.

Something Old, Yet New

Someone has said there is nothing new under the sun. From bits of exciting fashion news coming to feminine ears these days he would appear to be correct for the wimple of medieval days has returned to the fall and winter mode. Already a number of these new (and old) notes in feminine head wear fashion have appeared on Edmonton streets and at smart tea-time affairs. Pictured above is one of the prettiest of versions of the wimple. The turban to which the wimple is attached is of matching silk in bright peacock blue. An invisible hairnet holds the hair in place under the wimple and turban. Very smart and chic for late winter wear!

Share the Spotlight at Parties

What a jolly tap dancing stunt! No, they're not guest artists—only Jack and Doris entertaining their friends at the St. Valentine party. Their costumes are big red cardboard hearts, worn like sandwich boards.

And those flying tap steps the crowd applauds — they learned them at home this winter from diagrams.

You could do as well with a few evening's practice. The secret is the fanciest-looking tap routines are simply combinations of four easy tap sounds made with the four parts of the foot, like this:

BALL TAP—strike ball of foot sharply against floor.

FLAT—step on entire surface of foot.

HEEL TAP—with weight on ball of foot, lower heel to floor.

TOE TAP—extend leg backward, knee relaxed, and strike floor with tip of shoe.

Our 32-page booklet, prepared by two expert tap dancing teachers, gives diagrams and step-by-step directions for all basic tap steps. Short practice routines for beginners. Full-length ones — waltz, buck, military—for entertaining.

Train Wary Eyes on the Cheating Food Container

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

It takes all kinds of food manufacturers to make a world. Certainly we can assume that most American manufacturers and packers prefer to give honest value to the housewife and to package food in boxes, containers and cans not as designed as to deceive the consumer.

However, now at the beginning of a new year, women who spend the family's hard earned food money might well stop, look and listen—stop buying by extravagant advertising only, look carefully at each can or container to make certain exact contents are printed thereon, and listen to a few pertinent sentences printed below from the Consumer's Guide.

"Does Mrs. Consumer remember to keep her eye on contents as well as on containers?", Consumer's Guide asks.

"Does she compare quality with quality, price with price — giving due consideration to the container's real value to her?

"Does she remember to look for labels on the lovely box and the svelte jar to tell her just how much each holds?

"Does she remember to find out whether box and jar and can are filled—or only partly filled—with the goods they hold?

TRICKY CONTAINERS

"Spices are sometimes sold in cans which seem to, and could, hold 1½ times as much as they actually do. Or optical illusions created by the bottle-maker's ingenuity persuade the housewife she is buying larger olives, or lots more vanilla extract, than she is going to get.

"The line that separates clever packaging from polite deception is not easy to draw. Most of the products which nod across this line bear labels which tell the contents by net weight or volume or count.

DESIGN No. 605—GEESE GOING APPLIQUE QUILT

Dear Readers: Every time we open a letter asking for a DUCK or GOOSE quilt we think of the jingle, "Goosie Goosie Gander, where do you wander?" With that in mind we simply could not design anything but a goose "on the march," and just for good measure we have given you two geese—one to keep the other company. They have become studio favorites. You will find them fun to have and to make.

The pattern includes the pattern for the appliques, complete instructions for assembling, finishing, quilting material requirements and stitches.

According To Culbertson

Question 36 of the recent examination revealed at least one highly interesting and significant fact. Asking bids are far from dead! This question was:

With both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass

You are South and hold:

♠K 9 7 5 4 3 2 ♥ 5 ♦ A K Q ♣ A 5

What call do you make now and (in a few words) what is the object of your call?

The correct answer was that South should bid four no trump, either as a Culbertson 4-3 no trump convention bid or as the Blackwood convention. I did not think it necessary to point out that no question would be based on an asking bid situation, but neither did I want to rule out asking bids as possible solutions. To my surprise, some six thousand of the twenty-odd thousand answers that reached me gave either a four club or four heart asking bid as the proper action for South to take. The official answer pointed out that there would be no demerit for four clubs if used as an asking bid, but this provision did not mean a bid of four hearts. If players continue to use asking bids (in accordance with my statement that experienced partnerships can profit from their use) they must select the proper asking bid in a given situation. In this particular hand South can elicit better information by use of a four club bid than by bidding four hearts. To four clubs North may be able to respond with four no trump, showing second round control and two outside aces. To five hearts, North cannot tell South anything about the club control.

While it is quite true that the mere location of two aces in North's hand makes a grand slam an odds-on chance, it is equally true that if an asking bid is going to be used it may as well be made in the proper suit.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

The most important question for a defender to ask himself is "What is the possible chink in the declarer's armor?" Once that question is intelligently answered, the best line of defense is automatically resolved.

West opened his fourth highest heart, Declarer won with the jack and led a low diamond. West held off for one round, but took his ace on the third trick and then had to consider what line of play, if any, would defeat the contract. He was tempted to lead a club on the theory that East might be able to win and return a heart through declarer's marked ace. But proper consideration of the bidding convinced West that it was very unlikely that East could hold either the ace of clubs or the king-queen. Declarer could have no high honor except the king in spades and in diamonds, hence, to have been justified in his one and three no trump bids could not possibly have held less than the ace-queen of clubs. If West made any shift at this point, it was highly probable that declarer could win, cash diamond tricks, and then knock out West's spade ace, all this while retaining control of the heart suit. Hence, by the process of elimination, it became clear to West that the one hope was that declarer had started with only two hearts, the ace and jack. If that condition held true, another heart lead at this point would knock out the ace and West, on getting the lead with the spade ace, would be able to run the heart suit. Having come to this sound conclusion, West led another heart, and from that point on declarer had no chance to fulfill his contract.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Patients with hypochlorhydria, or a lowering of the amount of hydrochloric acid secreted by the stomach, are interested chiefly in the hope of an eventual cure.

When the weak acid secretion is due to chronic stomach inflammation, to nervous factors, or to some constitutional disease which will clear up with treatment, then the outlook is fairly good. In many cases of these types, it has been possible to bring back the secretion of acid and ferments, until they are close to normal. When there is almost a total lack of acid, treatment is much more difficult.

In my experience I have found that the short orange juice fast is much more likely to produce a satisfactory result than any other method in cases where the acid is still being secreted, but is proportionately low. During the fast it is usual for the stomach which has been throwing out a deficient amount to improve enough to begin secreting the correct amount of acid. Many times the trouble will be adjusted with no treatment other than the fast. When the lack of secretion is accompanied by gastritis, the latter condition will yield to the same fasting treatment which restores the secretion of acid.

After the fast, the patient must stay on a careful diet. Lean meat may be used, but the patient should be cautious to avoid fatty meat or meat with much tough fibrous tissue. Cooked fish may be taken. The non-starchy vegetables are to be included, but it is advisable to cook them until they are tender. Generally the patient should not use breakfast cereals to which bran has been added. Sometimes the cereal gruels will seem to pass through the digestive tube in an undigested state but I have found that often the fast will bring about enough improvement in the digestive powers so that the patient will handle the raw vegetables without any trouble. If they seem to cause diarrhea, they should be left off for a time.

Dr. Sansum has recommended that sour fruit juices be given to patients who do not make enough acid. He uses 2 ounces of lemon juice, or 6 ounces of grapefruit juice and believes these supply enough free acid to help these patients. However, I do not find this necessary as a general rule, as the fruit fast will strengthen the secretion enough so that the patient will get along all right. The ideal is to try to give the stomach a chance to manufacture its own juices, and this ideal is best attained by using the fruit juice fast. Those with a sub-acid condition should at least try the fasting method, as it may do a wonderful amount of good.

The orange juice or grapefruit juice fast should be undertaken in these cases. Those readers wishing the fasting instructions are welcome to send for a general article explaining how such a fast should be conducted. Forward your request to me in care of this newspaper and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The accepted medical treatment for lack of acid in the stomach is the giving of dilute hydrochloric acid. This is given in water and should be taken through a straw or glass tube. Generally the hydrochloric acid treatment is reinforced by the giving of pepsin, in an effort to make up the lack of this ferment which may be present.

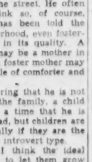

I admit that in the severe cases where the stomach is manufacturing almost no acid of its own, the giving of hydrochloric acid may be condoned, but if the organ shows any ability to secrete natural acid, I believe the best plan is to try to increase this ability by using the fast. If the fast does not work, the dilute hydrochloric acid may still be given, as it will not be too late for it. If the fast works, then the patient is better off making his own acid.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain, easily understandable language.

Raising A Family

When the mother of an adopted child asks advice about telling the truth, I am cornered for fair. I never have been able to make up my mind which is best, to tell him or on thinking that his beloved parents are his own and be their own precious darling, or to shock him by the truth. For any way the case comes, it is often upsetting. That is if he has ever suspected that he once had other parents.

For years I have weighed the values of each O R Barton method. And for years I have been noting the results of telling and not telling. At last I have come to a conclusion, it may not be the right one, but it is mine.

When a child is very young, say until he is four or five, maybe more, he has to derive a certain feeling of security in thinking that he is like the little play-fellow next door or across the street. He often continues to think so, of course, even after he has been told the truth. For mothers' love even foster-motherhood lies in its quality. A natural mother may be a mother in name only, and a foster mother may be born to her role of comforter and protector.

Yet, in discovering that he is not the real son of the family, a child may believe for a time that he is different. Too bad, but children are this way, especially if they are the ultra-sensitive or introvert type.

This is why I think the ideal policy would be to let them grow into early adolescence before breaking the news. At an age when they are so interested in their gangs, or sports, or outside interests, the emotions are less fixed at home.

But, alas, to do this we would have to live on a desert island or off in a land where no one knew. Like most ideals, it is too impossible to attain. Other children will very probably tell. In one way or another the truth will likely reach the child.

TELL—BUT TACTFULLY

It seems better then, for parents to do their own telling, hard though it may be. The best time to do so is when the small boy or girl is all wrapped up in something that engages his interest and anticipation. Not at a time when his love and adoration is uppermost in his heart and mind. And in telling the little story, there should be no show of heartbreak or tears or other such emotions as are contagious, and besides they make affairs look more tragic than they are. It takes diplomacy and care.

Children, like adults, have to take life as it comes. They must do the same on about the things that make them unhappy. There is death, a much harder thing to bear. They do so well, these children.

It is right for every foster child to know who his parents were. When he, or she, is grown, it is particularly necessary. The knowledge need make no difference in home life or relationships. The kindly foster parent is as dear to the adopted child as his own.

Grooming From Heels Up Is Very Smart Idea

Dorothy Dix Says:

By ALICIA HART

Regardless of her makeup and the way she wears the rest of her clothes, the woman whose shoes and stockings aren't neat and trim just isn't perfectly groomed. Crooked seams, run-over heels, unbrushed suede or unpolished kidskin will spoil the appearance of any otherwise smart costume.

Gone are the days when every other woman had a perfect right to say, "I never can get stockings the right length or find sheer ones which will give fair service."

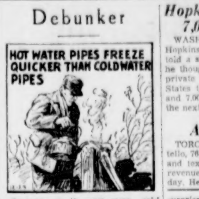

Now, if you are diligent in your search, it's possible to find sheer stockings that will wear and wear and wear. That is, if you ask for the right size in the first place. And, of course, several of the hosiery manufacturers put out long, medium and short lengths in each grade they feature. By all means ask for a special length. If your stockings are too short, your garters will stretch and pull and weaken the threads. If they're too long, they'll wrinkle easily.

Naturally, it's a mistake to wear ultra sheer, one or two-thread stockings to the office or on a hike through the fields, or even on a strenuous shopping tour. Such fragile hose are for dancing and dressup. Buy three-thread ones for ordinary, day in and day out wear, and four-thread types for golf, the country, riding and the like.

Always remember to wash stockings immediately after each wearing. Don't wait until the next morning. If you want the stockings to wear well, wash them before going to bed. New ones ought to be rinsed in lukewarm water and allowed to dry thoroughly before being worn even once.

Keeping toenails short and smooth and backs of heels free from callouses will add much to the life of your stockings. Putting them on correctly—that is, rolling them down, smoothing them over feet, then rolling instead of pulling them upward—is a help, too.

Debunker

Strange as it may seem, cold water pipes will not freeze as quickly as hot water pipes. You can test it yourself by placing two pans of water, one hot and one cold, outdoors on a very cold day. To your surprise, you will find that the pan of hot water freezes first. This is just one of nature's tricks. If you don't understand it, get out a book on physics and brush up your schooling.

Hopkins Visions 7,000,000 More Jobs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce, told a senate committee today that he thought it might be possible for private industry in the United States to employ between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 additional workers in the next three or four years.

The Roundup

TODAY racing chiefs throughout the United States are scratching their heads trying to estimate just how much racing the sporting public of the North American continent can support. This scratching of noggins results from the warning issued yesterday by Leo Spitz, chairman of the Illinois Racing Commission, that the racing industry was being undermined by unsound over-expansion. Spitz declared that 16,000 races are run annually in the United States and that there are not sufficient thoroughbreds to provide adequate fields for that many starts. He pointed out that in 1910 there were just 36 tracks in Canada and the U.S. while today there are 100.

Spitz urged the annual convention of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners to do all in its power to prevent additional tracks opening or existing tracks increasing the length of their meets. His contention was that to keep racing in a healthy condition, the public must be given good races and he argued that even now there are not enough good horses to provide that type of racing.

There is a lot in what Spitz says, but the breeders have an answer that he may not like to hear. They will tell him that if racing bodies would cut into some of their fat profits and boost the amount of purses being offered, prices for horses would move up to a point where it would pay to raise the expensive type demanded. Too much stress is put on super races such as Santa Anita's $100,000 spectacle. The average owner, breeder and trainer never gets a chance at that sort of boodle. Step up the average run of the day purses to a point where owners can make a decent living without having to be constantly dodging the sheriff and living on hamburgers and the sort of horses wanted will soon appear.

The breeder and small owner are the foundation of racing, yet they often make less money than some pint-sized kid that it politely called a jockey.

King Kong Preps for Lynch's Left

IT will be a bullet-like left hand that King Kong Clayton will be most concerned with when he climbs into the ring at the Memorial Hall here Tuesday night to battle Tommy Lynch of Kalispell, Montana, over the 10-round route. Clayton has seen Lynch in action and he has profound respect for the left hand he fires. Tonight at the York Hotel Gym, King Kong will spar with Gordon Grayston and Johnny Blochlinger, possessors of two of the best left hands in Alberta.

The Clayton-Lynch bout is the answer to the fans' demands to see just how good King Kong is when it comes to punching. His first opponent, roly-poly Eddie Shelton from the Montana Hills, didn't last long enough to give Clayton a warm-up. A couple of smashing rights and lefts from King Kong flattened him before the last echo of the starting bell had died out of the hall.

Lynch is scheduled to arrive here today and may work out at the York Hotel Gym tonight. Clayton is in fine condition from constant wrestling. He has been doing a lot of shadow boxing and heavy bag punching and figures that he will be ready with a few days of fast sparring. He served three years as sparring partner for Mickey Walker when the Toy Bulldog was tops and he knows his way around a fight ring. It looks like a bout that will offer plenty of action, Lynch being rated one of the better light heavies from the western section of the U.S. and a man who has seldom been knocked off his feet.

The semi-final, bringing Eddie McSporran and Musby Callaghan together for eight rounds, also promises a lot of good honest action. Musby is a battler who can take it and never stops wading in. Mc-Sporran on the other hand has a tough defensive and can uncork a hefty punch when the chance offers. He is starting a drive aimed at regaining the western middleweight championship which he formerly held and he is serious about it.

Roundup Before "30"

FRANK LEWIS, the baseball maestro who has been up at Cadomin for a number of years and played a major part in the ball successes of that town, arrived in Edmonton yesterday. Frank is "at leisure" just now as they say in theatrical circles. If anyone is interested in a good all-around man that can organize, coach and manage a ball club in addition to other work, Frank should fill the bill.

The mail brings a letter from Johnny Demchuk, Edmonton's Bounding Boyar of the mat, Johnny penned the note in Paris and declared that he has just about decided to come back here for a few months after his long campaign in European rings.

Letters have also arrived from Soldier Thomas and Dizzy Davis. Both are shuttling back and forth across the states as usual. Davis has been going big at Columbus, Ohio, while Thomas has been enjoying Florida sunshine. He states though that Florida is dead just now so far as wrestling is concerned.

Edmonton Soccer Fans Hold Enthusiastic Confab

Soccer fans in the city got away to a flying start for the season last night when an enthusiastic meeting at the Memorial Hall laid plans to give the old game a boost forward. Of late years the game has been handicapped by the lack of playing facilities, but with the advent of the Clarke Stadium into the picture, nothing should stand in the way of a quick resuscitation of the sport.

Under the chairmanship of Jack Strachan, the meeting went over the plans for reviving interest, and players and managers of teams agreed that the time was ripe to form a splendid playing league.

The possibility of a visit from the travelling Scots team which will be in the Dominion during the coming summer was weighed from every standpoint, and every effort will be made to bring the representatives here for a game. Edmonton has never yet failed to respond heartily to such games, and it was thought that with such a visit, the game could again be put upon its feet in the city.

The juniors and midgets were a strong outfit last year, and with the help of the seniors, four good playing teams could easily be got together to make a senior league.

League games could be staged every Saturday at Clarke Stadium, and with a strong body as an executive, it was felt that the game could be brought back to the place it occupied in the early twenties, when Borden Park was the scene of activities.

It was agreed to hold the next meeting on Wednesday next, January 18, in the Memorial Hall, when the officers and executive will be elected. All old soccer fans are asked to keep this date in mind and endeavor to turn out in order that the best representation of officers can be chosen.

MAPLE LEAFS THUMPED 4-2 BY CANADIANS

MAPLE LEAF Juniors, travelling at a fast clip in the early schedule, have been slowed down to a mild canter in the Junior Hockey League, absorbing their third straight defeat when drubbed 4-2 by Canadians at the Arena last night.

Defeat to the Leafs dimmed their chances of first place honors. Leafs could have gone out ahead of Edmonton Athletic Club and they clicked for winning points last night. The defeat left them still tied for top place with the E.A.C.'s, a position they are expected to lose when E.A.C. run up against Canadians on Sunday. Canadians have not been worry-warts to E.A.C. in previous games and with the lead in sight they may be even less potent medicine.

STARTED FAST

Canadians made certain their triumph in the first period. Goals by Harry Black, Don Foster and Tommy Dunn sent Canadians into a 3-0 lead, a lead they held and then increased in the second period.

Penalties in the third threatened Canadians' lead in the final frame but they held out the raiding Leafs for most part and got but two goals, being held scoreless themselves.

Leafs were without their stellar goal-guardian, While Ken Collins played well enough between the Leaf pipes, he did not turn in the stellar performance usually shown by Ken McAuley.

Harry Black soloed through for the opening Canadian goal in two minutes. Foster spanked home Dunn's pass over at the 14th minute while Dunn flipped one past Collins on Alex Watt's relay for the third and last goal in the opening frame.

COMPLETES TALLY

Midway through the middle session, Jack Shamper completed Canadians' scoring as he whiffed in Culley's pass. For the remainder of the game Canadians were held scoreless, but their back-checking and fairly steady work by Tullock retained their worthy margin.

Leafs went after goals at the drop of the puck in the third. Albert Newsome, by far the outstanding player on Leafs' team, was in close after accepting Anderson's pass and his finish was polished with a shot which sailed by Tullock.

Leafs second goal came when Devicq had sent a shot in from the side. Had Tullock left the disc alone it would have scooped by the goal but in his attempt to stop it the Canadian goalie pulled it into his own net.

LINEUPS

Canadians: Tullock; Watt, Barber, McEachern, Dawe; McKellar, Cully, Marshall, Dunn, Foster, Black, Shamper, Black, Mike Dunn.

Second period: 4—Canadians, Shamper (Culley), 8:19. Penalty, Watt.

South Australia Wins by 10 Wickets

BRISBANE, Australia, Jan. 12.—South Australia defeated Queensland by 10 wickets in a Sheffield shield match concluded Wednesday. The home team's totals were 836 and 233. South Australia replying with 597 and 14 for no wickets.

Mantha Injured

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—George Mantha, left winger with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, will be out of action for two weeks with a crippled left ankle bone, it was announced last night by club officials.

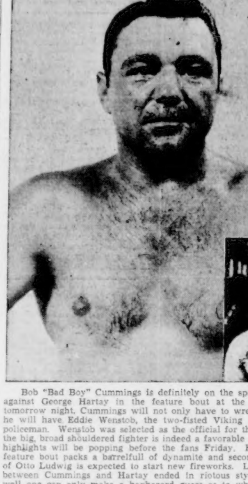

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO—Leone - Efrati, 122, Italy, and Pete Lello, 132, Gary, Ind., drew (10).

SAN FRANCISCO—Johnny Stevens, 134, Cincinnati, stopped Kid Ray, 137, Stockton, Calif. (4).

CORPUS CHRISTIE, Texas—K O. Borrado, 122, Corpus Christi, knocked out Baby Santel, 132, Phoenix (9); Frankie Hughes, 145, Terre Haute, Ind. and Cecilio Lozado, 150, Nuevo Laredo, drew (6).

Cummings Is Put On Spot

Bob "Bad Boy" Cummings is definitely on the spot. Re-matched against George Hartay in the feature bout at the Memorial Hall tomorrow night, Cummings will not only have to wrestle Hartay but he will have Eddie Wenstob, the two-fisted Viking puncher, as his policeman. Wenstob was selected as the official for the re-match and the big, broad shouldered fighter is indeed a favorable selection. Many highlights will be popping before the fans Friday. First of all that feature bout packs a buttrefull of dynamite and secondly the arrival of Otto Ludwig is expected to start new fireworks. Last week's bout between Cummings and Hartay ended in riotous style. This week, well one can only make a haphazard guess as to what will happen. Ludwig makes his debut tomorrow against Gust Johnson in the second bout while Jack Jackson is matched against an unknown master in the first bout which will start the card off at 8:30 p.m. All bouts are tournament bouts and will be 45-minute time limit affairs or best-two-of-three-falls.

Lacombe Rink Wins Way To British Consols Playoff

(Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin)

RED DEER, Jan. 12.—Sweeping all four games in the "B" section of the Central Alberta district playoffs at Red Deer yesterday, E. A. Bowering skipped his strong rink from the Lacombe Curling Club into the Southern Alberta British Consols playoff to be held later in Calgary. The second rink to represent the Central Alberta curlers will be decided in a playoff between Hunter of Sylvan Lake and Willis of Innisfail, who are tied for the "A" section lead.

Champions of eight clubs, previously decided at the various centres, took part in the Red Deer 'spiel. The clubs represented were Innisfail, Red Deer, Rimbey, Mirror, Lacombe, Eckville, Benalto and Sylvan Lake. Because of their greater membership, Innisfail and Red Deer were both represented by two rinks.

Bentley, the other member of the Central Alberta District Curling Association, was not represented because of sickness on their winning rink. The Association has a total membership of 462.

THRILLS

The day produced plenty of good curling with several close finishes providing thrills and excitement. The ice became heavy as the day wore on but was keen in the morning. Play began at 9 a.m. and five sheets of ice were used with four games being run off. The competition was run off in two sections, five rinks in each.

A. R. Little of Red Deer, E. E. Freeman of Innisfail and J. C. Knight of Red Deer, officers of the Central Alberta Association were in charge of the arrangements. President J. McRobb of the Red Deer Curling Club welcomed the visiting rinks and members of the Red Deer

CAPITALS WIN INTERMEDIATE LOOP TILT 2-1

By KEN METHERAL

RAPPING home the winning goal with a bare 20 seconds left to play in the final period, Capitals scored a 2-1 victory over Civics in an Edmonton Intermediate Hockey League fixture at Varsity rink last night. The win jumped the Jimmy Graham coached sextet into a first-place tie with the leading E.A.C. junior club.

Bobby Graham, one of the ace snipers in the Northern Intermediate circuit last year returned to bolster the injury-riddled Capitals. And what a job of bolstering he did! He banged in the winning goal in the final canto and passed to Caldwell for Capitals first tally. Zucchet scored the lone Civic marker.

Strong defensive game, Capitals had a good edge in a rather dull, drab opening stanza. Civics failed twice on power plays while they were enjoying a one-man advantage with first Harold Wismer and then Red Caldwell doing penance in the cooler.

A penalty to Caldwell in the middle frame provided the setting for the initial goal, Civics clicking on a power play when Adolph Zucchet banged in Joe Caswell's rebound from a scramble in front of the net. Four minutes later Caldwell squared accounts as he picked up Graham's rebound to beat Layden.

Bobby Graham climaxed a brilliant debut as he polished off a pretty passing play with Johnny Lammie to tally the winning goal at the 19:40 mark in the final canto. Another bit of netminding was on display at the Varsity on last night as Lorne Harney and Freddie Layetzke kicked out the rubber in goal. Red Caldwell added a little spice to the evening as he commuted to and from the penalty box with great regularity in the two opening frames.

LINEUPS

Capitals: Harney, Caldwell, Brant, Lammie, Reid, Walker, Calvert, Horn, B. Graham, Quinn, Wismer, Eldridge and Lemieux.

Calgary Registers Third Straight Win

5,300 Calgarians Watch Cowboys Zoom From Cellar Position, Moving One-Point Ahead of Olds Elks

CALGARY, Jan. 12.—Calgary Stampeders, the 1939 Giants of the Alberta Senior Hockey League, stretched their winning streak to three games here last night by bowling over the third-place Drumheller Miners 5-1. Victory pulled the Cowboys out of the cellar, putting them a point ahead of Olds Elks and one full game behind Coleman Canadians.

Approximately 5,300 fans watched their team take a five-goal lead on goals by Les Thirlwell, Davy Duchak, Bill Reay, Peter Paul and Cam Burke before Kennedy robbed Gordie Hemming of a shutout with Drumhellers only score with less than two minutes to go.

The re-organized Stampeders beginning the new year with a new coach, Rosie Helmer formerly of New York Americans in the National League, scored seven of their 10 points gained in 17 games this season since New Year's Day, a record unequalled by any of the other six league sextets.

CHECKED TO STANDSTILL

They held the fast skating Drumheller club, that is usually paced by the five Bentley brothers, in check except in one instance when a Calgarian rested in the penalty box. Then the reliable Hemming, Stampeder custodian, rose to great heights.

NO CHANCE

The little goalie had no chance on the shot that snatched a "shutout" from his grasp. Three Stampeders were caught behind the opposing blueline when Doug Bentley broke away. He passed to Bob Kennedy who had time to get set for a burning shot that found the corner of Calgary's net.

Though the largest Calgary crowd of the season rejoiced because of the pace, Calgary was setting after a disappointing start, the biggest noise came from the Calgary dressing room when Coach Helmer announced:

"Well, boys, we are out of the cellar."

MUSCLES

Women admire men with big muscles. The trouble is a night club waiter will never accept a bicep as payment for the bill.

Every athlete knows the secret of good training. It is one of the things which makes his wild parties seem so enjoyable.

A few exercises every morning keep a man in good trim, although he is probably more interested in finding something to keep him in bed.

Boxing comes in handy against hoodlums. It keeps the circulation well up so that, when they smack you over the head with a club, you don't catch cold too easily as you lie there in the gutter.

Sick Man Hears Funeral Rites Of His Own Child

WESTON, Ont., Jan. 12—Despite sickness that confined him to bed, H. Lawton was able to hear funeral services for his infant child Wednesday. William Ward, director of the funeral, was also a short-wave radio enthusiast. He equipped a receiver in Lawton's room and a transmitter in the funeral parlors, permitting Lawton to follow the service from his bedroom.

HOUDE FAVORS LEGALIZING OF RACING BOOKS

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 Recently-elected Mayor Camillien Houde said he favored legalizing racing bookmakers.

Mayor Houde was commenting on the suggestion of Mayor Lyle Telford of Vancouver that bookies be licensed to operate legally or that racetrack betting be banned altogether.

The Montreal mayor, beginning his fourth term after two years out of office, said he had long sought to have the dominion laws changed to make bookmaking legal.

Mayor Morrison Adds His Support

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 12.—Mayor William Morrison expressed support for the suggestion of Mayor Lyle Telford of Toronto that bookmakers be licensed.

"We've got no control over them as well as get revenue from them," Mayor Morrison said. "I have convictions that people can go inside the fence at a track and bet, go to the stock market and gamble, but at the same time are jailed for betting outside."

Scona Seniors Defeat Separate In High School Tilt

Playing at Scona Centre rink Wednesday, the basketball team of the High School League, Scona seniors hockey team got off on the right foot by defeating the Separate puckstrers 1-0 in a bitterly fought contest staged on soft ice.

A large crowd of spectators took the game in and cheered the team during the entire 60 minutes of thrill-packed play. Neither team held the advantage in the first and second periods and close checking hampered any scoring efforts of the players. In the third frame Scona found themselves somewhat out continually shorted in on the Irish, who made some great stops when left uncovered by careless defensive work on the part of Separate. Shortly after the ten-minute mark Norman Fairhurst sifted through and passed the puck over to "Smokey" Harris who rushed the disc home to break the deadlock.

LINEUPS

Scona: Steele; Collins, Younie; Grout, MacKay, Fairhurst, Harris, Webb, McGinn, Bailey, Chisholm, and Towne.

Separate: Riski; Pyper, Lambert; McGill, Hogan, Gibson, MacAvoy, Modrowski, Day, Bilsky, Hannon, Hogan.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE SILK FISH: The Silk Fish (Pinna Nobilis) is a bivalve mollusk secreting a large tuft of long filament by which it attaches itself to rocks and other objects. This tuft, called the byssus, is processed into a durable silk out of which stockings, gloves and other garments can be woven. Neapolitans, Sardinians and Maltese were formerly engaged in the weaving of this silk, an industry which has partly endured to the present day.

BABE QUITS HOSPITAL COT FOR OWN BED

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The bed was "too hard," so Babe Ruth came home from the hospital Wednesday.

With more concern than that, the baseball world breathless with shock over the condition of its No. 1 gusher.

JUST SHIP SHAPE

"Aw, I'm okay," the Babe growled. "I was just trying to take off some of this buy window and the doc decided I needed an examination."

Mrs. Ruth and Dr. Robert H. McConnell, one of the physicians, were said to have turned down the Babe's request to go home, only to be reported sudden ill health, Mrs. Ruth nevertheless was not too worried about rumors a heart condition had baffled the attendants.

"We've been hearing stories about the Babe's heart for 10 years," she pointed out, "before he was 40 to be glad to report it hasn't bothered him."

OKAY FOR GOLF

Dr. McConnell refused to comment on a direct question as to whether Babe suffered from a heart condition.

"He can go out and play golf or go hunting any time," the physician said. "The condition is all right."

As the Babe put it:

"Well, they said up to the hospital to get some rest. But the bed was so hard I couldn't sleep, so I came home again."

Bank of Canada to Halt Abuses Among Brokers, Bondholders

By THOMAS WAYLING

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—The Bank of Canada has taken steps to combat abuses among brokers and bond dealers with respect to new issues of Dominion government loans.

"Bloating" subscriptions and speculation on issue will be eliminated, as well as other reprehensible practices.

The Dominion's credit is so strong and its bonds in such demand that dealers have been applying for a bigger allotment of new issues than their customer demands warrant.

Some have applied for a "bloated" allotment, knowing that the issue will probably be oversubscribed and that a pro rata allotment will be made.

Had they applied for the quantity they really required they would have received a smaller quantity pro rata as the issue is divided among all applicants.

IN ANOTHER WAY

"Bloating" the application they get as many bonds as their real application calls for, giving an unfair advantage over other investors.

Other dealers and brokers, trade on the keen demand in another fashion. They apply for a far larger quantity than they require, then re-sell these at a premium immediately without having put up any actual cash.

These profits impose a tax on the real investor which the government does not consider he should be called upon to pay.

The Bank of Canada, acting as fiscal agent for the Minister of Finance will hereafter base the allotments on the dealer's normal requirements and past applications.

MINIMUM ALLOTMENT

A minimum allotment, not exceeding $5,000 will be offered to each dealer who does not qualify on past applications.

Any dealer who does not take up at least 80 per cent of the aggregate of such minimum amounts in three consecutive loans will be struck off the dealers' list.

Furthermore applications must be accompanied by a certain cheque or bank draft equal to 5 percent of the par value of the bonds.

This particularly applies to short term bonds. All such issues are subject to allotment and the certified cheque or draft must be deposited at the nearest agency of the Bank of Canada when the application is made.

LONG TERM BONDS

With respect to long term bonds each dealer will be offered a definite allotment. The dealer must notify the Bank of his intention to accept or not before 4 p.m. the day preceding the public offering of the loan.

When the specified allotment is delivered a cheque for 5% of the total value must be paid at once. Any such offerings not accepted will be turned back into the general offering to the public, and be available on payment of 5% of the value.

The new scheme will prevent dealers "bloating" their applications and will provide a fair allotment to all dealers rather than any dealer getting more than his share by a bit of sharp practice.

Broomhall

England is buying occasional lots of Plate wheat around 61 cents, but importers are asking for names of steamers and dates of bills of lading. In this way it will be possible to determine the exact date of arrival. Samples of the new crop have apparently been received, analyzed and found satisfactory. Therefore a substantial business in this new Argentine wheat can be anticipated at around current prices, as it is only four to five cents a bushel over Danubian wheat. As the average time of passage is 35 days the wheat will be arriving early in March and applicable for delivery on the Liverpool March future. This position closed at 61½c a bushel yesterday and as it costs about 4c to unload wheat at Liverpool and place it in the elevators available for delivery, the actual wheat figures is 65c in elevators or 3½c over the option. Other wheat c.i.f. Liverpool are No. 1 Manitoba 77c, No. 3 Man. 75c, Australian 67c, Rumanian 57c and U.S. 62 to 66c. There is very little pressure of wheat for sale outside of the Plate and this latter is not offered in abundance. The wheat board at B. A. is paying farmers around 59c less rail charges and selling this to exporters at about 44c, which means a subsidy of around 15c a bushel, according to our option. Although Argentine prices are very low, the farmer is getting more than during the depression of 1931 to 1933. The importers, however, are getting this wheat at very attractive prices and almost as low as it ever sold abroad. As the quality is good and the price low, a good business condition is expected directly the demand improves. India still complains of drought damage on unirrigated soil, with corn scarce and pastures badly burned in Australia and the Argentine. The disappearance of low grade wheat is expected to be heavier than usual.

The height of a Douglas transport plane is 16 feet, 3 inches.

EQUALITY FOR ALL PERSONS PREMIER SAYS

Aberhart Asks Trustees To Follow Progressive Trend In Education

Motto of Alberta education system should be the "granting of equal opportunity to all, denial of special privilege to any," Premier William Aberhart told the Alberta School Trustees' Association convention Thursday morning in the Masonic Temple.

PROGRESSIVE TREND

He also said that the convention should seek to frame recommendations in line with the "present progressive trend in education."

Telling the meeting that till now "Alberta had been sinking in a bog of debt," Mr. Aberhart said that it was the determination of the government to usher in a new deal.

All "social services", he explained, should be given the people "apart from debt-creating", and that was the task to which the government had set its hand.

"This program will require time, it will require patience and every bit of co-operation, and then it can be done," he said.

Mr. Aberhart said he was sure he would get such "intelligent co-operation" from the school trustees.

BRIGHT SPOT

He suggested that the program pursued in the educational field would in five or six years make this province the bright spot in Canada in academic work.

PAIR CHARGED WITH VIOLENCE AFTER BEATING

William Donaghue and John Nicholson were charged Wednesday with robbery with violence following the beating of Edwin Egland, of Red Deer, who was beaten and robbed of $200 Monday night.

Egland, who suffered black eyes and wounds on the head, said to have been inflicted when he was hit with a bottle, was picked up on 104th street one half block north of Jasper avenue and taken to the police station for safe keeping. He said he had been drinking during the evening, and could not account for his beating.

A second charge of theft was laid against the two men when Ernest Pepper, of Pepper's Meat Market, 10010 Jasper avenue, picked them out of a police lineup Wednesday. He identified the pair as the men who robbed his store together Tuesday evening, and after confusing him when getting change for a $20 bill, left the store with $10 too much.

When the two men appeared in city police court Thursday morning they adjourned to Friday.

RADIO TUBES LAST 5 YEARS EXPERT SAYS

Evidence Denies Testimony Given At Calgary Probe Hearing

Life of radio tubes in Canada was placed at five years by Hastings McMahon, manager, radio department, Taylor and Pearson Co., Ltd., Edmonton, while giving evidence before the provincial commission appointed to enquire into the price of radio tubes in Alberta. This evidence is in direct conflict with that given at Calgary, in which it was stated that the life of tubes was less than one year.

Supporting his evidence, Mr. McMahon quoted figures to show that the number of radio set in operation in the Dominion last year was 1,500,000 and the number of radio tubes sold during that period 1,385,000.

He also quoted from a personal contact survey made throughout Canada in which it was shown that

TWO-ALARM FIRE DRIVES ROOMERS OUT INTO NIGHT

An early morning two alarm fire in a rooming house at 10036 106 street at 1:30 a.m. Thursday called out fire halls 1, 3 and 5, under the direction of Deputy Fire Chief Macgregor and drove 11 persons out into the darkness clad only in night attire.

Firemen said the fire appeared to have started in a gas heater in a third floor bath-room of the building, which is owned by the Montreal Trust Company, and operated by Miss A. Fugelang.

Most of the damage done was by water poured from the fire hoses, the flames being confined to the third floor bathroom and hall.

Several of the roomers suffered loss of personal effects by water damage.

Furniture in the three storey house carried $2,000 insurance.

The alarm was turned in by one of the roomers.

Foul Play Probed

Coroner's Jury sitting at Lac la Biche Tuesday under the direction of Chief Coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, decided that John Hodgerake, 42, who died last December following a community fracas after a dance, had died as the result of injuries received from blows from a heavy instrument in the hands of a person unknown. Investigations are being continued.

BAGPIPE PRIZE DONATED HERE BY MACKINNON

Trophy Entered For Annual Competition By Pipers' Association

Donation by James A. MacKinnon, M.P. for West Edmonton, of a handsome trophy to stand for competition in the annual Alberta Pipers Association events was announced Thursday by A. J. Allnutt, honorary secretary of the association.

The new trophy will be known as the James A. MacKinnon trophy and will take its place alongside another trophy received from Peter Henderson, Glasgow, Scotland, as one of the premier awards which can be won by pipers at the annual contest sponsored by the association, which, this year, will take place in this city on February 25.

VALUABLE PRIZES

In addition to these trophies, many other valuable prizes have been received, including a silver cairngorm hair sporran, donated by R. W. Forsyth of Glasgow, Scotland; a complete leather-bound set of bagpipe music books from Teachers Highland Cream, and a Cairngorm brooch from Pipe-Major McIvor of Vancouver.

For competition among the younger boys Alex McPhee has donated a trophy, which will be known as the McPhee Star. In addition, many prominent Edmonton business men and houses have donated trophies and it is hoped that arrangements now under way will be completed to display the entire prize list prominently in a Jasper avenue window.

The Alberta Pipers Association came into existence two years ago to encourage playing of the bagpipes in particular and to further the interest of Scottish music in general.

T. H. Campbell is honorary president of the organization and takes an active interest therein.

Time, initiative and resource, as well as deep interest in piping of Pipe Major John Robertson, D.C.M., goes the major laurel for the success of the association. He was its first president and has been once more elected to this office.

ASSISTANCE

He has been assisted by such well-known enthusiasts as Pipe Major Henry Laing, Pipe Major Tom Craig, Harry Leenan and E. J. Peden, with A. J. Allnutt as secretary.

Preceding the annual competition in February, a concert will be held on January 28 in the Oddfellows' Hall, 103 street and a typically Scottish program will be featured.

GOOD GRACIOUS! THIS WILL NEED AN EXPLANATION

Staff Inspector Matt Blackwood of the city police was getting his share of good-natured kidding Thursday morning, because Matt Blackwood was arrested early Thursday morning and charged with vagrancy.

The occupant of the cells, however, is from eastern Canada, and his full name is Matthew Gene Blackwood.

Asked how it felt to be "vagged," Matt (the policeman) just chuckled, and refused to rise to the bait.

Church Unity To Face Big Issues Pastor Declares

Recent legislation and trends in the various parts of the world may force a united Protestantism and possibly a united Christendom to find a voice with which to meet the public issues and policies of the day, Rev. J. Gerdon Hunt, pastor of the Robertson United church, told the McDougall United Church Men's Club Wednesday evening.

Problem Committee Is Formed Here By Unemployed Groups

First step towards the unification of Edmonton's unemployed and the setting up of a "clearing house" for problems and grievances of the jobless, was made here Wednesday night at a meeting in the Imperial hall. More than 300 persons representing every unemployed organization in the city attended.

The meeting selected nine men, by nomination from the floor of the house, to serve as a temporary committee to arrange for the organization of the central permanent committee. It is expected that the permanent committee will consist of two delegates from each group deciding to co-operate.

Speakers explained that by uniting the various unemployed organizations could strengthen their position, and by working together could bring pressure upon authorities to gain sympathetic hearings for their submissions. At the same time the committee will act as a "clearing house" for grievances in that it will meet delegates from the member organizations, as need be, for their complaints and submissions and decide what action would be the best to take.

GENERAL GOOD

Sponsors of the plan pointed out that the central organization would not be used to make "unreasonable demands upon the relief authorities," but would work constantly for the general good of the unemployed and at the same time keep the welfare of the middle-class and working-class taxpayer in mind.

It was pointed out that more satisfaction could probably be had from the relief authorities if they were met regularly by the different representatives of the entire unemployed population, instead of by the representatives of many smaller groups with varied claims.

PROVISIONAL GROUP

The provisional committee will consist of Bill Burke, H. Shelley, Jack Nicholson, Harry Johnson, Eat (Campbell), T. Tweter, Frank Tough, R. Mills and Jack Drew. Represented on it are the Progressive Citizens Alliance, formerly known as the Workers' Unity League, Married Men's Association, the

Meal Strikers Fooled When University Menu Has Fine Chicken Stew

A minority group of students at the University of Alberta who are on "strike" over the food supplied to residences on the campus "double-crossed" themselves Wednesday evening when about 24 of the discontented students staged a "walk-out" at Athabasca. The "walk-out" was staged before the students saw the food placed on the tables, and the laugh was on them when it was found that a delicious chicken stew was the piece-de-resistance of the meal.

A meeting of students called for Wednesday night to discuss the "food strike" failed to materialize, and the general expression of opinion among the majority of students was that no complaint was justified. Today it looked as if the small group of agitators behind the "food strike" was losing ground and that they will be in the chicken stew proving their Nemesis.

Just Supposing It Is Friday 13th Tomorrow: Who's Afraid, Anyway?

Hard-boiled and all one may be, but this fact must be faced—tomorrow is Friday the 13th.

The old hoodoo was here eight months ago and many people who happened to meet with misfortune Friday, May 13, 1938, may have blamed it on the unusual combination of day and date. That's a custom as old anyway as the Gregorian calendar instituted in 1582.

No year is complete without one appearance of Friday the 13th. He has turned up nine times in the last five years. He will be here again Oct. 13 and in 1940 he will tag September and December.

It has never been established that anything unfortunate happened to anybody because Friday was dated up with the 13th. But the superstition, legend, tradition or usage, will persist.

Some say the idea is as old as Adam—that Eve and her spouse were expelled from Eden on the day of the week corresponding with Friday and that it was on the same day of the week that Cain killed his brother Abel. Other authorities recall the astrologers of ancient Babylon declared 13 unlucky. The mythologists of Scandinavia blacklisted the number because Baldur, their sun-god, had to die when 13 were found in the circle of Valhalla.

In Christendom probably the most widely accepted of the origins of the Friday, the 13th, fixture is in the fact there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who next day, traditionally a Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

In any case, doubtless thousands of mortals tomorrow will refuse to set out on a journey by air, sea or land, start any new enterprise or sit 13 at the table, because it is Friday, the 13th. On the other hand lots of bold spirits will go out of their way to walk under ladders and spill the salt, just to show their contempt for the time-honored idea of the unlucky day.

ALBERTA DRAMA FESTIVAL HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Committee Completing Plans For Plays February 24 and 25

Headed by E. Maldwyn Jones, committees arranging plans for the provincial drama festival to be held here on February 24 and 25 in the Empire theatre are completing arrangements, it was reported Thursday.

Several meetings have been held and plans laid for the festival which will present the winners in the various inter-regional tournaments throughout the province in the finals competition for the honor of becoming winners of Alberta's drama festival this year.

Secretary of the committees is R. C. Bouchard; F. G. Martin is treasurer, and Allan Porter is business manager.

Joint directors of publicity are Mrs. C. M. G. Farrell and Miss Charles Freuld. William Wallace directs the committee in charge of scenerios and properties, while Mrs. J. K. Hill is head of the entertainment committee.

The Inquiring Reporter

With talk from men in high places that the west will be forced to recede from the rest of Canada, unless something is done to give Western Canadians a squeeze deal, The Inquiring Reporter buttonholed passer sought opinions on this question. He received these re-

DONALD D. WHITE, barrister: "There is considerable talk these days about secession and the west not getting a square deal. My opinion is that the west, in comparison with other parts of Canada, is receiving a square deal and that if really done the idea would empathatically declare against secession.

FREDDIE FRANKS, salesman: Provinces, like persons, never seem to be satisfied with the treatment they receive. This Maritimeord between the west and east is deplorable, but not dangerous. One parliament for the east and one for the west, with the dividing line at the Great Lakes has been before the country as long as I can remember and no action has been taken. My guess is that it will still be a burning question when we are all dead and gone.

HUBERT ROONEY, stenographer: "I guess we would be better off with a parliament for western Canada. Western interests clash with those of eastern Canada and both will be properly represented in parliaments situated in the east the trend of legislation is to the benefit of eastern interests.

CECIL HEARN, truck driver: As far as I am concerned they may secede if they want to, ... there will be no action. The people of the west would not accept the suggestion. If Canada is to survive it will be only as an united nation.

2 Women Are in Love But So Busy They Have No Time to Marry

A Story to Make Heart Beat Faster

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect

LANCE BARSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did

CYNTHIA CANTRELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Cantrell. Still another dreamer was BARNEY McKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

By ELINORE C. STONE

CHAPTER I

GREAT-AUNT Mary Cantrell glanced up from the towel on which she was embroidering a monogram toward the chest into which Janet was tenderly folding fragile garments of lace and rainbow-tinted satin.

"My stars, Janet!" she said. "I had more good honest underwear on my back the day I was married than you've got in that whole chest."

Janet Dwight could not remember life without Aunt Mary. When her mother had died, Mrs. Cantrell had come to keep house for her nephew and to take care of the two-year-old daughter; and since Father's death, she had been both mother and father to the growing girl.

Neither could Janet remember the time when, to her, Aunt Mary had seemed anything but a very old lady in spite of her straight back, her swift, birdlike movements, and the snapping shrewdness of her singularly youthful black eyes under smooth, soft white hair.

"What did you wear at your own wedding, Aunt Mary?" Janet asked, not so much from curiosity as because, just now, of all topics in the world, that of weddings was to her most absorbing.

Aunt Mary dropped small blue-veined old hands into her lap and sat up a little more erect in her straight-backed chair, her eyes girlish with gay reminiscence.

"White satin," she said softly. "It had a snug basque, with crystal buttons down the front, and a very full skirt—even though the times were hard, and we were starting out only the next day to homestead in the west. . . I had a veil, too, and orange blossoms—artificial ones, of course"

"I know. I've seen the picture in your album," Janet reminded her. "But I meant underneath—you know—your thesies and thosies?"

Aunt Mary threaded her needle with a brisk stab.

"Good, warm, long woolen underwear," she said firmly. "A corset, of course—and I mean a corset, an honest, bone-gripping one, not one of these flimsy rubber cheats. You held your breath and prayed for endurance while some one laced you into it. . . . Then I had on an embroidered linen chemise, a tight camisole with ruffles over the bust—we had busts in those days—and three petticoats: one of the white flannel with embroidered scallops, one of plain white muslin, and one of fine cambric with valenciennes frills."

"I'm only surprised you didn't wear galoshes. You girls just couldn't take it in those days, could you?" teased Janet, although she had often heard the story of how, when Great-Uncle Nathan had decided to leave the first homestead in Nebraska and push on farther west, Aunt Mary, at 19 had ridden across the Sierra Nevadas, through mountain passes infested by hostile Indians, with her baby on a side-saddle before her. . . . That, of course, was years before Uncle Nathan went to Washington as Senator Cantrell.

"I have yet to be convinced," retorted Aunt Mary serenely, "especially after observing the present generation, that exposing the hide is any fool-proof way of developing intestinal fortitude. As for 'taking it,' as you put it, half the young people I see these days are licked before they start. . . . Of course I don't mean Cynthia," she added hastily.

But Janet knew that the denial was an involuntary admission.

Cynthia Cantrell was Aunt Mary's orphaned granddaughter, on whose education the old lady had spent a generous portion of her own not too generous income. Yet two years out of college, Cynthia continued to be Aunt Mary's most expensive luxury. As Cynthia outlined the situation, there really wasn't much use breaking your neck looking for work, because just now there simply weren't any jobs of the sort that a girl of her background had a right to expect.

"But, Aunt Mary, how can they help it—the way things are now?" Janet demanded. "I wonder sometimes where I'd be without the money Father left me. You're forgetting the depression, aren't you?"

"The depression?" snapped Aunt Mary. "In heaven's name, why the depression? Do you suppose this country's never seen hard times before your generation came along? When I was young we scratched for every bite we ate—that is, our menfolk did. But nowadays young men seem to expect a living handed to them on a silver tray."

Well, anyhow, she can't mean Lance, Janet thought proudly.

Although Aunt Mary did not, of course, entirely appreciate Lance, yet even by her exacting standards, he was succeeding when half the young men of his acquaintance were out of jobs. Already he had made an enviable place for himself in the architectural department of Hallowell and Benton's, the leading engineering firm of the city . . . It was still incredible to Janet that in ten days she would be Mrs. Lance Barstow.

When, just after she had come home from school six months ago, she had met Lance at a party, she had been amused and mystified by the importance this slim, blond, apparently diffident young man seemed to hold for the other women there.

After Janet, partly because she was always kind to shy people and partly because, in his quiet diffident way, he sometimes said unexpectedly amusing things, had danced with him for the third time, Cynthia waylaid her in the powder room, and warned her with that air of tolerant sophistication that Janet often found very trying, "Watch yourself, infant. The Barstow lad is a smooth article."

Janet had laughed and said, "Don't be funny, Cyn."

But she had gone out with a new undercurrent of excitement to dance again with Lance Barstow.

It was not, however, until one evening several weeks later that she realized how that quick, appealing smile of his; his way of listening as if every word one spoke were important; his air of saying the most inconsequential things as if drawing her apart from the crowded room into an intimate world in which they two were excitingly alone; his way of folding her into her coat as if she were something infinitely rare and precious—how all these things had ingratiated themselves into the very fiber of her being.

That had been one evening when he was to take her dancing. She had just slipped her dress over her shining russet hair when he telephoned to say he could not come.

Janet had gone to bed, frightened by her own sense of desolation. If missing one evening with Lance Barstow meant so much to her, how dangerously far she had come since she had dismissed him as just an amusing young man with a diffident, charming smile. . . . Next day they were engaged.

Now the door of Janet's room opened, and Cynthia came in, still wearing her hat and wrap. Her eyes fell upon the chest before which Janet was kneeling, and then moved quickly to her cousin's intent, happy face; and she asked abruptly, "Jan, haven't you—has Lance called up lately"

"Not since this morning," Janet said. "Why?"

Cynthia took off her hat before she answered lightly, "Oh, nothing. I—just wondered."

But at something in her half-averted face and the too casual tone of her reply, Janet felt an unreasonable stir of uneasiness. Why should Cynthia thing it necessary to evade so natural a question? For that matter, why had she opened the subject at all?

But she had gone out with a new undercurrent of excitement to dance again with Lance Barstow.

Homestead Filings At Eight-Year Low Year Report Shows

There were 1,447 homesteads filed on in 1938, lowest in the past eight years according to J. W. Stafford, director of lands and L. J. Irwin, statistician in the Alberta department of lands and mines.

Highest number filed since the province took over natural resources was 4,426 in 1931-32. Last year 1,520 were filed, in 1936 1,483. Most of homesteads filed in the last two years were northwest and north of Edmonton and in the Peace River country.

Training Popular

Physical training classes under the Dominion-provincial youth training plan has been exceedingly popular and at present 6,363 are registered in groups, it was stated by J. H. Ross, director of the plan. Mr. Ross said that since its inception three months ago the classes have increased so that many communities have difficulty providing facilities.

DR. THOMSON LECTURES AT CITY MEETING

Philosophical Society Hears President Of Saskatchewan Varsity

Mysticism is not only a mental attitude but a way of life, Dr. James S. Thomson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, told the Philosophical Society Wednesday night in an address on "The mystical approach to reality."

The meeting was held in the medical building on the university campus and was presided over by Professor F. Owen, head of the society.

"I distinguish between what I call the higher and lower mysticism," Dr. Thomson said.

DRUG-TAKING

"The lower mysticism seeks for visions, ecstasies, possibly as sentimentation or even the experiences of drug-taking. But there is a higher mysticism, more accurately defined as a habit of life, a living interior intercourse with a living world, in which we are receptive rather than active, patient of reality in its revelations rather than seeking for peculiar or exotic experiences.

"Our duty becomes one of being alert and obedient with the chambers of the mind unlatched and lit, essentially humble and waiting, rather than aggressive and forceful.

"Mysticism too has its place in the scientific method through scientific genius," President Thomson continued.

"In the flair for investigation, in the sense of having an insight into the radical principle of some form of natural behaviour, you have an element in the scientific approach that cannot be neglected.

"Of course it has to be developed through patient study and application, through a discipline of the spirit whereby we become obedient to the laws of truth, through honesty of mind essentially moral in its character.

"Prejudice has to be kept in leash, if not put away altogether.

NOT COLD-BLOODED

Science is not so cold-blooded in its methods as is sometimes supposed. It has its higher emotional experiences, cleansed from mere yielding to desirable conclusions, but more evelated thereby.

"There is a serious intellectual despair abroad, to which it is easy for our comfort, to adapt ourselves by a comfortable indolence in denying truth altogether," President Thomson went on.

"Thus truth becomes not the knowledge of reality, but what we make it. Hence arises propoganda, conscious and unconscious, in place of education, and we live in a world of vulgar intellectual 'boosters' for their own home-town.

"I claim for mysticism no infallibility, no easy road to truth, where reason fails, but I claim for it at least a believing an expectant attitude towards life as a way of life itself," President Thomson concluded.

JOBLESS PLAN FORMATION OF CENTRAL BODY

Unemployed Single Men's Association the Unemployed Ex-servicemen's Association and others.

Speakers attacked present relief administrations plans as unsympathetic and unsatisfactory. "No government has yet even attempted to tackle the unemployment problem, and their relief plans are far from satisfactory even as temporary measures," Pat Burke of the U.M.M.A. declared.

Herman Albert, speaking for the P.C.A., deplored the small relief scales provided for provincial unemployed and the uncertainty of their position. He declared that the compulsory farm placement scheme for unemployed was unfair.

CO-OPERATION

R. Metcalfe, speaking for the Unemployed Ex-Servicemen's Association, stated that they were willing to co-operate with any organization which was working for the welfare of the unemployed and which proposed to constructively improve conditions.

"In spite of all the speed we boast of over here on the American continent, we still have to go back to Britian for good ideas," stated Frank Tough, as he explained the workings of the English Unemployment Insurance and Health Schemes. Such plans could be put into effect here with benefit to all, he claimed.

Speakers for the Single Unemployed Association, Jack Nicholson and Harry Johnson, charged that conditions were worse than before and scored provincial and federal governments for failure to institute work-for-wages.

USE RESOURCES

They claimed that ultimate solution of the problems facing them lay in the development and exploitation of the provinces and the country's natural resources for the benefit of the people.

As a temporary measure they advocated the immediate beginning of worth-while public works program on a work with wages basis, to be financed by a tax on larger incomes and corporation earnings. Increased tourist business would help to pay for roads, they claimed.

Chairman of the meeting was T. Tweter, of the U.M.M.A., and the recording secretary was E. D. Johnson, of the same organization.

Jobless Veterans Name New Officers

Determination to guard against permitting themselves to be used to further the purposes or propaganda of "any political group or party" was voiced at the annual meeting of the Unemployed Ex-servicemen's Association held in the Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon.

Highlight of the meeting, which was attended by 50 members, was the election of officers for the ensuing year. Sidney Bowcott, was selected for the presidency.

Other officers elected were: R. Metcalfe, vice-president; C. Nixon, secretary-treasurer; J. Ferguson, J. P. McCarthy, C. W. Boyle, J. W. Hicks and H. Walker, executive members. Routine reports were read by the chairmen of various committees outlined work done during the past year.

12 BRANCHES OF TREASURY NOW ARE OPERATING

With a provincial government treasury branch opened at Ryley on Thursday and one scheduled to be opened at Drumheller on Monday next, the total in operation in the province by the latter day will be 12. Dr. J. L. McPherson, M.L.A. for Vegreville opened the Ryley branch on Thursday and Hon. Solon E. Low provincial treasurer announced opening of the Drumheller branch for next Monday.

Before the opening of the Ryley branch, Glen L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Alberta Social Credit Board and Dr. McPherson, addressed a public meeting, explaining the operation of the branch and of the entire interim program set up, of which the treasury branches are part.

Featuring the ceremony attendant upon the opening, the Ryley Social Credit Group, it was announced, purchased a former Royal Bank building and is loaning it to the government at a nominal rent, in order to avoid the government having to purchase a building.

Through The Mill

Charged with attempted false pretences, a man told the court Thursday he had sold some rings to another chap, whom neither he nor the police were able to locate after his arrest, for the sum of $65, payment being made by cheque. When the accused man presented the cheque to a Jasper avenue grocery, the grocer was suspicious, and notified police. When the document was found to be worthless, he was arrested.

He maintained his innocence, however, and his story of the cheque being written by the missing man, together with his identification of a police file picture of the alleged cheque writer, served as grounds for withdrawing a charge of uttering a worthless cheque. On a second count of attempted false pretences, however, he was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

minister of education was moved by A. E. Ottewell, university registrar, and Mr. Aberhart was accorded loud applause for his address.

"I have always thought it a dirty trick", said the premier, "that children in rural areas should not have the same chance of developing their individuality by education as those in cities.

"No matter what the circumstances or place of a child's birth, every child in this province should have an equal opportunity to benefit from education, our most precious asset." he explained.

Pointing out that poverty of parents should not be a bar to education, Mr. Aberhart also said that "uniformity of education throughout the province" had to be observed.

"That may sound dictatorial and undemocratic, but I think you will all admit that in the field of education the principle of local autonomy can be carried too far.

IS DEMOCRAT

"Of course I believe in local autonomy. I am a democrat. But it is impossible to carry on any progressive or modern system of education if one district is doing one thing, and another the exact opposite. We must, it can be seen, have reasonable uniformity."

In his address of welcome, Mayor Fry said that the importance of education as a supreme social good could not be exaggerated and hoped that the convention would be marked with success.

Resolutions committee is headed by R. Henning, Fort Saskatchewan, and also numbers among its members P. G. Davies, Clyde; F. R. Haythorne, South Edmonton; J. O. Pilon, Edmonton; and Earl Hammond, John Griffiths, Jack Caudle, named from the convention floor.

Appeal to have the association publication, "The Alberta School Trustee", maintained, was voiced by its editor, Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Edmonton, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Compulsory Plan Is Voiced For Trustees

Compulsory membership in the Alberta School Trustees' Association was foreshadowed Thursday morning by Dr. C. A. Staples, Stettler, in his presidential address as the association convention opened its two-day session in the Masonic Temple.

It is expected that between 250 and 300 members will register for the convention, which began Thursday with an address of welcome from Mayor John W. Fry.

RESOLUTION PASSED

"A year ago," Dr. Staples said, "we passed a resolution asking for compulsory membership in the A.S.T.A. Recently, a committee of your executive met the minister of education and asked if he was in sympathy with the association being continued and if so would he make it possible. The committee was favorably impressed with the probability of success.

"Unless we have compulsory membership the small numbers of members that will pay their fees will make it impossible to continue these conventions.

OFFICERS

Officers of the association are: Premier Aberhart, minister of education and T. O. King, Raymond, both honorary presidents; Dr. Staples, president; A. E. Ottewell, registrar, University of Alberta, first vice-president; M. R. Holder, Vimy, S. D., Stettler, second vice-president; secretary-treasurer and editor The Alberta School Trustee, Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Edmonton.

Additional executive members are: Mrs. E. E. Morton, Vegreville; S. S. Bowcott, Edmonton; W. H. Chappell, Blairmore; W. A. Church, Medicine Hat; A. D. Cumming, Calgary; P. G. Davies, Clyde; W. C. Gilbert, Deer Park S.D., Grassy Lake; F. R. Haythorne, Salisbury S. D., South Edmonton; H. E. Heath, Woody Nook S.D., Lacombe; R. Hennig, Clover Bar Division, Fort Saskatchewan; J. O. Pilon, Edmonton; H. A. White, Mundare.

C.C.F. SCORES PROPOSED CUT CITY M.L.A.'S

Claims Redistribution Should Be Made On Population Basis

Any redistribution of provincial constituencies should be made solely on the principle of a more equitable distribution of seats, according to population, it was submitted by the Edmonton Central Council of Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Clubs to the special legislative committee investigating redistribution Wednesday.

The special committee sat under the chairmanship of Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs and its work is to probe the whole question of redistribution and to report at the next session, commencing on Feb. 9, with the report to call for not less than 56 seats and not more than the 63 at present in the house.

Clifford E. Lee, president of the Edmonton Central Council of C.C.F. Clubs, submitted the brief to the committee, while representations from Olds also were heard.

P.R. SYSTEM

The C.C.F. submissions also urged that a proportional representation system of voting be effected throughout the entire province. At present only the cities use P.R. and the rural ridings use the single transferrable vote system.

The brief also urged that the $100 deposit required of candidates in provincial elections be abolished.

"In our opinion," submitted Mr. Lee, "there are only two legitimate reasons for a redistribution of seats. One is governmental economy by way of a reduction in the total number of seats. The other is to provide a more equitable representation to the people of the province."

It was stated that in the matter of a reduction of the total number of seats, it was the C.C.F. view that "from the strictly money-saving standpoint there are other obviously more fruitful curtailments of expenditure possible. We oppose any drastic reduction because we do not believe the prospective savings justify the curtailment of representation involved."

The C.C.F. opposed reduction of Edmonton membership in the house to four instead of six and also opposed the introduction of the "ward system" into the major cities. "This," it was claimed, "is too conducive to machine politics of the most obnoxious sort. We trust the government will not be responsible for its introduction to this province."

Olds Delegation In Opposition To Plan

Appearing before the special legislative committee on redistribution, a delegation from Olds on Wednesday opposed any plan for redistribution of seats in the Alberta legislature. The delegation represented the Olds Social Credit League.

Introduced by H. J. Ash, M.L.A. for Olds, the delegation included I. Bullard and S. A. Houchin.

MORE TERRITORY

Mr. Bullard declared that the rural members had all they could do now in the way of work. If reductions are made, he said, then it meant they would have more territory to cover. Reduction might be urged in city representation, he said.

The committee has concluded its sittings, and drafting of the report for submission to the legislature will now proceed.

MERCURY HOLDS ABOVE FREEZING THROUGH NIGHT

Rising above the freezing line at noon Wednesday, the mercury held above that mark up until 9 a.m. Thursday when the official report was received from the Highlands weather station.

Indications are that continued non-freezing temperatures will be chalked up Thursday, the local forecast promising comparatively mild weather. The fluid came close to slipping below the 32 degrees line, which it touched at midnight, 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. Thursday. High reading Wednesday was 39 above at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Winds swept over Edmonton during the night, attaining a velocity of 10 to 12 miles per hour.

Temperatures in the near and far north slipped a little overnight, Aklavik claiming the chilliest reading with 36 below.

Official forecast for Alberta was for partly cloudy weather for Thursday and Friday with lowering temperatures in the north portion.

Driving Tests For Motorists Not Compulsory

Institution of driving tests for automobile drivers who drive passenger automobiles of their own are not yet decided upon, according to well-informed circles. Although drivers' licenses are issued, no driving tests are taken.

Some provinces require tests before a driver's license is granted and a certificate of proficiency is needed.

As far back as 1936 the government was authorized to require examination for driving proficiency and more recently under a Highway Traffic Board order all drivers of public service vehicles, such as busses and transports must have medical certificates showing good health and eyesight.

Most successful Poultry Show in the 36 years they have been held, closed at 10 p.m. Wednesday, and officials of the show announced that they were pleased with the interest shown by both the bird fanciers who made the show possible and the public whose interest made it worthwhile.

Superintendent Sandy Robertson said the three-day show, which was sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association had enjoyed larger entries and aroused more interest this year than ever before. Entries in the pigeon competitions were the highlight of the show—these birds accounting for nearly half of the total number of entries.

Judging was completed Wednesday as judges named a Blue Chequer entered by R. B. Owens as the champion male homing pigeon, and a Silver Mealy entered by Tom Walters as the champion female. Large interest in the pigeon classes, and especially the homing pigeon classes in which competition was keen, was a reflection of the growing popularity of pigeon racing in Edmonton district, officials declared.

More than 750 entries were listed in the competitions, only disquieting note in the entire show was the fact that in some classes where the same exhibitor has won for the past two or three shows, there was no competition, other fanciers apparently having been "scared off," say officials. They pointed out, however, that several prize-winning birds were sold which will probably mean inceased competition and even better birds in next year's show.

RADIO TUBES LAST 5 YEARS EXPERT SAYS

the average life of a radio tube was 49.7 months.

Witnesses before the commission stated the life of present-day tubes was less than those of other years, but this, in their opinion, was accounted for by the increased demands made on the tube both from length of daily use and the increased action of radio sets.

All witnesses stated that prices were set by the manufacturer, and although no case had been reported it was generally understood that selling under the list price might be followed by the striking off of the seller from the supply list.

POOLING OF PATENTS

Questioned regarding Thermionics Ltd., a holding company for all Canadian radio tube patents, witnesses knew of the company, but were unable to state whether price increase in tubes since its inception in January, 1936, had been a result of this pooling of the patents of the leading Canadian companies.

Commissioner J. Gaunt questioned witnesses closely on the fact that the life of radio tubes was not guaranteed to the consumer in view of the long life of the tube reported in the surveys.

Accusation that Commission counsel W. H. Epstein, Calgary, framed his questions to elicit answers detrimental to the quality of radio tubes manufactured in Canada was made by G. R. Williams, representing the Edmonton Radio Servicemen's Association, at Thursday mornings's sitting of royal commission.

Commissioner R. J. Gaunt stated that he could not recall that evidence given at Calgary was detrimental to Canadian tubes, his recollection being that with the exception of two or three witnesses all experts had expressed the opinion there was a uniformity between American and Canadian tubes as to quality.

Mr. Williams stated that the evidence on the relative quality of American and Canadian tubes given at Calgary which placed the Canadian product lower than the American was "just hearsay."

"I am pleased to have your opinion on the evidence," retorted Mr. Epstien.

REPEATS EVIDENCE

Don. L. Kepler, Calgary, independent radio serviceman, repeated his evidence given at Calgary that Canadian tubes were of inferior quality to American tubes of similar character. He said he had decided to sell Canadian tubes at 5 per cent over dealer list price, and considerably under the set price to the consumer in his fight against the Canadian manufacturer. Mr. Kepler was referring to the injunction and court action in which he was adjudged to have infringed patent rights of a Canadian company by importing a certain type of American tube for sale in Alberta.

Mr. Kepler stated that in his opinion retailers of radio tubes did not receive a profit commensurate with the service they had to render the buying public. This service, he said, was testing tubes for the customer and answering technical questions concerning their radio set. This testing equipment was expensive and depreciated rapidly, it being sometimes necessary to replace the entire equipment within 12 months to keep up with changes in the radio tube industry.

Wings North

With weather clearing at McMurray air traffic to the north was back to normal again Thursday. Harry Winny, C.A.L., and Herb Hopson, M.A.S., arrived in from the north, and Jack Crosby, C.A.L., and Bob Randall, M.A.S., were northbound. Sheldon Luck, U.A.T., and Jack Moar, operations manager, were northbound for Fort St. John. Archie McMullen, M.A.S., was southbound for Edmonton.

Looking into the future, V. H. Patriarche, traffic manager for Canadian Airways said Thursday he could see the day when planes would operate into the north on wheels, all the year round, landing at airdromes which will be constructed with government help. He names five years as the soonest this development could be looked for.

Meanwhile Trans-Canada Airlines have been maintaining unbroken service with the north. Mail is increasing, postal officials state and everyone is awaiting the day that the opening of the passenger service will be announced.
